

with the deliberate intention of defeating the reelection of Col. Stewart.

"I naturally have control of a large number of shares of stock in many corporations," said Mr. Sutherland. "I frequently give proxies and sometimes myself attend meetings of stockholders to see that the corporations are properly operated."

"I have the same authority over the stocks as though I owned them personally, or as though I were a trustee holding them for an heir. I considered this matter very carefully and then gave the proxies to Mr. Rockefeller. You could hardly expect me to give them to Mr. Stewart."

Canvass South Bend Holders.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—That South Bend men holding Standard Oil stock are being approached personally by supporters of Col. Robert W. Stewart of Chicago in his battle with John D. Rockefeller Jr. became known today. A group of Stewart men now are in the city conferring with local stockholders regarding the disposal of their proxies for the March meeting, when the battle for control will be decided. In instances where proxies have been given to the Rockefeller faction, efforts are being made by Stewart's supporters to obtain later proxies.

REPORT 25 DEAD AS QUAKE RAZES VENEZUELA CITY

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 17.—[AP.]—The newspaper El Universal says 25 dead and a great number of injured have been taken from the ruins of the City of Cumana, which was shaken by an earthquake this morning.

The governor of Cumana sent a wireless message to President Gomez tonight saying that the quake, which occurred at 7 a. m. destroyed every building in the city. He said there were many victims and he appealed for physicians, medicine, and food.

The government is rushing steamers and other vessels with supplies, physicians, nurses, and tents to the stricken area.

Cumana, capital of the state of Sucre, has a population of about 16,000. It is one mile above the mouth of the Manzanares river and is about 250 miles from C. r. ca.

Quake Rings Church Bells.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 17.—[U. P.]—The Dutch steamship Commewijne transmitted reports from the Promar telegraph station of Margarita island which said that earthquake shocks there this morning were so strong that they caused church bells to ring.

[Margarita island lies north of Cumana, in the Caribbean sea. It is about 40 miles long and has a population of about 40,000.]

Council Group Acts to Settle Airport Dispute

A step toward settlement of the lake front airport controversy was taken yesterday by the council committee on railway terminals when a subcommittee was appointed to draft the necessary amendments to the lake front improvement ordinance. Conference among representatives of the committee, the Illinois Central railroad and the South Park board will be held.

Son of Elder Rockefeller's Associate Backs Col. Stewart in Battle for Standard Oil Rule

H. B. Payne of Winnetka, owner of a considerable block of shares in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and whose family is said to have been associated with the Rockefellers for nearly sixty years, yesterday made public letters revealing that he is backing Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the oil company, against John D. Rockefeller Jr. in the battle for control of the $900,000,000 corporation.

Payne's letters are addressed to the principals in the great battle for the proxies. In both epistles he says his support will be behind Col. Stewart when the showdown of proxies comes at the annual stockholders' meeting on March 7.

Hopes to Help Others.

Mr. Payne said he made the letters public only because he felt his own view of the matter might help other stockholders in making a decision for their best interests.

"I am looking at it purely from a cold blooded business standpoint," he said, "and I base my actions in the matter on that. I hope most of the other stockholders will see it in the same way."

Mr. Payne's father, H. R. Payne, is said to have been an early associate of John D. Rockefeller Sr.

"I want you to know that I am greatly surprised and also upset to have written evidence that John D. Rockefeller Jr. has seen fit to make his personal animosity toward you an issue with the stockholders," Mr. Payne writes to Col. Stewart.

"I have the deepest respect for Mr. Rockefeller and his ability, both as a business man and as a benefactor of the human race. I feel, however, that he is entirely out of order in his present operations toward you, and in consequence I have written him as per the attached copy, which I send you merely because I want you to know exactly how I feel, and, further, because it is my sincere hope that a majority of the stockholders will feel as I do."

Vital Interest in Fight.

Mr. Payne's letter to Mr. Rockefeller, under date of Jan. 14, addresses the son of the oil king as "My dear Mr. Rockefeller," and continues:

"I have your form letter of Jan. 2, together with proxy which you have instructed to be sent to each stockholder of the Standard Oil company of Indiana."

"The matter with which this letter deals is one of vital interest to every stockholder in the company. It is of special interest to me for several reasons. First, because my family has been associated with the Standard Oil interests since the early days of your father's operations in Cleveland. I think I am safe in saying that the association has existed for nearly sixty years. The second reason for my interest lies in the fact that every dollar I possess in the form of investments is in Standard Oil company of Indiana stock. Third, I myself, had my early business training with the Standard Oil company of Indiana."

An Outstanding Institution.

"It is a matter of record that the Standard Oil company of Indiana is one of the outstanding industrial institutions of this country as regards efficiency, courtesy, good will, and financial success. I have no hesitancy in saying that in my judgment this condition exists largely because of the individual—Robert W. Stewart."

"You point out in your letter that ent operations toward you, and in consequence I have written him as per the attached copy, which I send you merely because I want you to know exactly how I feel, and, further, because it is my sincere hope that a majority of the stockholders will feel as I do."

Personality Injected.

"I do not know why the present controversy has been brought about but I do feel that personalities are brought into the situation and that in endeavoring to remove Col. Stewart from his present position, you are dealing most unjustly with the stockholders of the company."

Col. Stewart departed for New York early yesterday, leaving behind word that he was not in the market buying Standard of Indiana stock, and that he was going "purely in the interests of the company," and not in connection with his battle with Mr. Rockefeller.

There was around the Standard Oil offices at 910 South Michigan avenue no apparent reaction to the reports from the east that Mr. Rockefeller already held proxies for 51 per cent of the more than nine million shares.

It was understood the proxies were "rolling in" to Col. Stewart. Many letters of encouragement and friendship from stockholders were being received, it was said.

Offers to Pay Democrats' Deficit Pour In on Smith

New York, Jan. 17.—[AP.]—Alfred E. Smith's radio appeal for funds to eliminate the Democratic national committee's $1,500,000 deficit was bringing results today. His office was receiving telegrams at the rate of 100 an hour, and many of them contained offers of money, it was said.

It is your purpose to have the present board of directors remain in office and indicate the ability of each of those men. What you say is absolutely true. I have a very deep regard for a number of these men on the board of directors whom I have known for twenty or twenty-five years but, I want to take this opportunity of saying to you, without the slightest thought of detracting from the ability of any member of the board of directors, that the dominating spirit and the great leader of the Indiana organization is Col. Ex-Bailiff Is Ordered Held on Confidence Game Charge

Judge Daniel P. Trude in the new Racket court yesterday ordered David Salmon, former Municipal court bailiff, held to the grand jury on a charge of operating a confidence game. The complainant, John W. Jones, 4359 Oakwood avenue, a street car conductor, testified Salmon had taken $600 from him on a promise to obtain his release from a six months' sentence in the Bridewell. Jones said he was taken this opportunity of saying to you, without the slightest thought of detracting from the ability of any member of the board of directors, that the dominating spirit and the great leader of the Indiana organization is Col. Robert W. Stewart. Since the passing of A. C. Bedford there has been none to challenge his right to that position.

PROMISE QUICK ACTION ON POLICE INCREASE PLAN

O'Toole Proposal Meets Public Approval.

Immediate consideration will be given by the city council finance committee to the resolution of Ald. William R. O'Toole (14th) designed to increase Chicago's police force. Ald. John S. Clark (30th), chairman of the committee, promised yesterday.

The O'Toole resolution was presented to the council and referred to the committee Wednesday. It pointed out that the present police man power is entirely inadequate to protect life and property against criminals and proposed doubling of the force in five years. Specifically, it proposed that state legislation be sought to provide revenue and, later, for a referendum on their expenditures.

"It should be up to the people themselves to decide whether Chicago is to go on paying tribute to the man with a gun," Ald. O'Toole declared. "I'm convinced that a vast majority of law abiding citizens realize the impossibility of 8,000 policemen coping with crime conditions as they are in Chicago today."

Committee Favors Plan.

Ald. Clark and other members of the finance committee expressed sympathy with the spirit of the O'Toole resolution. They were concerned, however, with the problem of raising the money and at the same time keeping taxes at a minimum.

"I'm for more policemen; we need them badly," said Ald. Clark. "And certainly I would not object if the people voted the money to pay for them. But I think that jointly with the police referendum they should vote also on the tax rate."

The city council, at the behest of Ald. Clark, recently went on record in favor of a 5 cent decrease in the corporate fund tax rate, from $1.12 1/2 to $1.07 1/2 on each $100 property valuation. This would mean, on the basis of 1927 assessments, a decrease in revenue of $2,125,219 a year, or enough to employ 700 policemen.

Business Men Approve Plan.

Under the O'Toole schedule 600 new policemen would be added in 1929, at the rate of 100 a month. Continuation of the program for four years would give Chicago 5,000 more policemen by Jan. 1, 1934, at an additional cost of $15,643,800 in 1935 and the years thereafter.

Business concerns greeted the proposal with approbation yesterday. Among the organizations backing the O'Toole program were the Chicago Carriage exchange and the Chicago Jewelers' association.

"Our members are unanimously in favor of better police protection," declared H. P. Juergens, president of the jewelers' association.

The Carriage Bulletin, official publication of the carriage organization, asserted that more money for policemen is an acute necessity and urged members to press aldermen for appropriations to increase the size of the force.

URGES 3 POLICE DIVISIONS

Chicago would have, in effect, three separate law enforcing agencies instead of its present police department if recommendations outlined yesterday before the Midland club by Attorney Rush C. Butler, head of the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice, were adopted. Mr. Butler's address to the club covered one angle of a survey of Chicago crime conditions made last year by the association.

August Vollmer, chief of police of Berkeley, Cal., in 1925, made a special study of Chicago's police system, particularly its relation to the several political machines operating in the community, and Mr. Butler, in his remarks, emphasized the findings of Chief Vollmer.

According to these findings, a system more efficient than the present would consist of three police bodies.

DETROIT RUM RUNNING CAN'T BE ENDED, SAYS CUSTOMS PATROL HEAD

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Rebelling at a transfer to Tampa, Fla., Sumner C. Sleeper, head of the customs border patrol here, asserted tonight that Detroit river rum running cannot be stopped "under present conditions."

"Wherever liquor is involved," said Sleeper, "one is certain to find insincerity. In the 18 months that I have been head of the patrol I have been compelled to fire more than 100 inspectors because of drunkenness and laxity."

"Our department personnel is inferior to that of the bootleggers; the men we hire in general are out of sympathy with the prohibition law and susceptible to graft. Today there are 20 former customs patrol inspectors facing charges in the federal court and three waiting to be tried for perjury."

"My subordinates started a graft system. They made arrangements with rum runners to keep the river open at designated points, and when I fired or demoted the officers, their successors turned out to be as bad."

one to have control of traffic; a second to keep down vice, and the third to catch criminals and perform the general police work. An indefinite term of office for the chief of police, taking his position out of politics is another needed reform, Mr. Butler said. The chief cause of demoralization is the corrupt political influence exercised by administrative officials, even ward leaders exercising a baneful influence upon the police force, Vollmer's survey found.

DRYER IGNITES COMBS; WOMAN BADLY BURNED

Mrs. Jane S. Wade, 74 years old, wife of the owner of a leading department store of Aurora and a well known club woman, was perhaps fatally burned last night in her home at 125 South Lincoln street, Aurora, when an electric dryer ignited a set of celluloid combs she was using to wave her hair. Her husband, Charles F. Wade, and a nurse who had been attending Mrs. Wade during a recent illness from the flu, smothered the flames in blankets but not before she had been badly burned about the head, face, and shoulders.

CONGRESS CLUB WOMEN TO BAR MRS. DE PRIEST?

"Color Line" Hinted in Proposed Bylaw.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—What has been construed as a move to exclude Mrs. Oscar De Priest, wife of the Negro representative-elect from Chicago, from membership in the Congressional Women's club promises to provoke a row at a meeting of the full membership, Feb. 6.

The meeting has been called to take action on an amendment proposed at the Jan. 2 meeting by Mrs. Albert H. Vestal, wife of an Indiana representative, which provides a means of restricting membership.

Ever since the club was chartered by congress twenty years ago, the wives of senators, representatives, members of the cabinet, and of the Supreme court have been automatically eligible to membership, together with the daughters and such ladies as are official chaperones of members of congress.

Would Set Up Barrier.

Mrs. Vestal's proposed amendment provides that the application of any person eligible to membership must have the indorsement of one or more active members from her state and shall be passed upon by the executive committee of the club.

"If this application is approved by such executive committee, the applicant shall be declared elected to membership," says the proposed amendment, which puts no restrictions on the discretion of the executive committee. Thus any applicant may be kept out, either because she cannot get the indorsement of a member from her state, or through rejection by the executive committee for any reason or none.

Mrs. Vestal has denied that she had any idea of color in proposing the amendment, but the fact that the amendment will be voted on just one month before Mrs. De Priest becomes eligible for membership is rumored in social circles here to be more than a mere coincidence.

Some Oppose Change.

That the amendment will be approved is by no means certain. Some of the members are said to regard it as unnecessary. Many assume that Mrs. De Priest probably would not attempt to exercise her right to membership. Also there is a feeling that the power conferred upon the executive committee might lead to the building up of a social oligarchy.

Its sponsors insist that the proposed amendment is the result of the increase in the club's membership to an unwieldy size.

"The problem of how to limit membership has been considered by the club for some time," said Mrs. Vestal tonight. "Setting up some standard for membership which would keep down the size of the club has been a hobby with me and has nothing to do with Mrs. De Priest."

The club has never been faced with the color question before, as the last Negro member of congress retired 23 years ago, several years before the club was chartered. Mrs. Peter G. Gerry, wife of Senator Gerry, one of the senate's millionaires, is president of the Congressional club. At the time of her marriage to Senator Gerry, a few years ago, she was the widow of George W. Vanderbilt.

WETS AND DRY IN SENATE JEER VOLSTEAD FARGE

Anvil Chorus Rings Out for Four Hours.

[Chicago Tribune From Service.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Prohibition started the senate today in four hours of the liveliest debate heard this session. Nearly a score of senators participated in the free for all, which blocked a final vote on the proposed appropriation of $25,000,000 additional for Volstead enforcement during the current fiscal year. Before a recess was taken late in the afternoon, a substitute proposal that the government undertake a nationwide propaganda appeal for Volstead observance and enforcement was submitted as the inspiration for more oratory tomorrow.

The high point of the afternoon came when Senator W. J. Harris [Dem., Cal.], one of the most ardent dries in the senate and sponsor of the original $25,000,000 proposal, admitted, to the chagrin of some of his dry colleagues, that prohibition has fallen far short of the promised millennium. He openly charged that Volsteadism has produced fifty bootleggers where only a single saloon existed in pre-prohibition days, and reiterated that enforcement has been a nationally recognized fiasco.

Mellon Made a Target.
The Harris proposal came to the floor in the form of an appropriations committee amendment to the pending deficiency supply bill. Senator F. E. Warren [Rep., Wyo.], chairman of the committee, precipitated the debate when he announced that Secretary Mellon opposed the plan, on the ground that without a specific program for its expenditure, the huge sum would be wasted. In accordance

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.
Four hours were devoted to a senate debate on prohibition in connection with the consideration of the first deficiency appropriation bill.
Senator M. E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], speaking for the cruiser bill, proposed a ban on loans by American bankers to foreign countries maintaining armies and navies of excessive strength in peace time.
Invoking of cloture to limit debate on the cruiser bill was considered by its proponents.
Senators prepared for action tomorrow in the controversy over President Coolidge's nomination of Roy C. West of Chicago for secretary of the interior.

Many senators visited the White House to witness signing of anti-war treaty by President Coolidge.
Charles H. McDowell of Chicago and other spokesmen for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States objected before the senate committee on interstate commerce to governmental supervision of the coal industry as provided in the Watson bill.

HOUSE.
General debate on the independent offices appropriation bill was commenced in the house.

Witnesses in the tariff hearing before the house ways and means committee asked greater protection for the lumber industry.

House leaders arranged to hold down on appropriations for new projects after conferences with President Coolidge and budget officials.

with the Wyoming senator's request, the treasury secretary's letter urging that no additional appropriation for enforcement be made in advance of "a thorough going survey of the entire field," was read from the desk.
"You might as well make a survey to find out whether there is a Washington monument," declared Senator Harris when the Mellon letter had been read. The senator insisted that ten times the present number of dry agents now assigned there should be stationed along the Canadian border to suppress liquor smuggling.
"There is not a senator here," he asserted, "who does not know that this law is violated ten times as much as it would be if we had the proper number of field agents."

"The secretary of the treasury," the senator continued, "is one of the best financiers in this country. But he has been in that office eight years, and he has not recommended, as I recall, the appropriation of one dollar additional to enforce this law, when every man and woman in this country knows that the bootlegger is worse than the barroom formerly was, because there are 50 bootleggers where there was one barroom. I believe he could spend ten times as much money as he is spending, and his enforcement officer [Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran] said that he could spend ten times the amount he now has. I wish we could have the latter's experience here, and his recommendations, instead of those of the secretary of the treasury."
"Every senator here, whether he is in favor of this law or not, knows that it is a farce the way it is conducted today."
Read Asks a Question.
"Is it worse today than it has been all the time?" asked Senator James A. Reed [Dem., Mo.].
"I think," answered Senator Harris, "it is in the same condition today as it has been since the present secretary was placed in charge of it. I do not think he has tried to enforce the law as congress intended it should be enforced."
"I think this law was not enforced properly from the very beginning, because they did not have the money to enforce it, and for that reason it has been a farce from the start."
"I am glad," declared Senator Reed, "to have one frank statement in regard to this matter, because I have heard it asserted on this floor many times that enforcement is a success. The senator has cleared that matter up."
Senator W. C. Bruce [Dem., Md.], another wet, reminded the Georgia senator that virtually all of the states have state liquor laws, and added that if prohibition is enforceable the efforts of the government and of the states should have demonstrated it long since.
Asked if prohibition is enforced in Maryland, Senator Bruce replied "with the utmost vigor, and with the result that last year there were more deaths in Baltimore from alcoholism than the year before."
"My information is," said Senator Harris, "that if a man does not want to buy whisky here in Washington

he has no trouble getting it in Maryland."
"Or anywhere else," asserted Senator Bruce, "because Gen. Andrews, as the senator will recollect, said bootlegging was absolutely co-extensive with the limits of the United States."
Senator W. E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] took a hand in the debate when the discussion turned on the results of the recent reorganization of the prohibition bureau within the civil service.
"In my judgment," said Senator Borah, "we will never have a competent force if we keep that law. We can hold examinations and fill the states with that class of men, but we will never have enforcement."
Bruce Quizzes Him.
"The senator is aware, of course," said Senator Bruce, "that when these competitive examinations took place, 75 per cent of the field agents who were appointed under the old system, mainly at the suggestion of churches, the Anti-Saloon league, and agencies of that sort, failed to qualify."
"Yes, but that is no reflection upon the men," countered Senator Borah.
"Well, I think it is," asserted Senator Bruce.
Senator G. W. Norris [Rep., Neb.], agreeing with Senator Borah, declared his fear that in classifying dry agents in the merit system, "we jumped from the frying pan into the fire."
"I am wondering," interrupted Senator Reed [Dem., Mo.], "whether the senator wants us to jump back into the frying pan again, or if he has some other receptacle."
"I am not willing to vote to repeal this prohibition law until a fair, honest effort has been made to enforce it and has failed," said Senator Norris. "Then I should be willing to talk about repeal. If it cannot be enforced, I do not want it."
Smoot vs. Caraway.
Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] drew fire from Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] when he declared that the result of an expenditure of $25,000,000 in a dry drive would be to "pile up cases in already congested courts, and some of the cases would not be tried for ten years."
"That alibi about the courts not having time to consider the cases does not appeal to me," said Senator Caraway. "Any one who does not want to enforce the law can always say there is something wrong with the machinery. Whether we are going to enforce the law or not, let us be perfectly candid about it."

Senator Reed of Missouri, referring to a letter read into the record from former Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, asserted that Pinchot was either unwilling or unable to enforce the Pennsylvania state liquor law. The Pinchot letter attacked Secretary Mellon's stand on prohibition. Senator Reed said there would be no necessity for such a prohibition investigation as is contemplated by President Eliot Hoover if congress and the country could get the facts.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] entered the debate to attack the substitute proposal offered by Senator W. L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], which would provide $250,000 for a nationwide educational campaign and appeal for law observance, as well as $1,000,000 for an expansion of the field enforcement service. The Virginia senator was particularly irked by the suggested propaganda fund provision.
Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], in the beginning of a speech which he will finish tomorrow, warned his colleagues that the people and not congress will ultimately decide whether prohibition is to be enforced.

Well hardly ever) want to go to bed at 10 o'clock, even though you did feel quite tired. And secondly, if you owned an Ampico it's more than likely that the children would be home, grouped around the piano, excitedly listening to their favorite tunes. With hundreds of great artists to play for you the melodies you love best—who would want to go to bed? To you and everyone in your family, the Ampico will bring more enjoyment than any single possession of your home today. It will inspire your children in their piano studies, give them a rich appreciation of music too difficult for stumbling fingers, provide a continual source of culture. It will allow you—having cozily settled your guests in your softest, most comfortable armchairs—to entertain them more royally than if you were their host in a box at the concert hall. WATER BOY WINS CROWN AS KING OF AFGHANISTAN

Third Man Sits on Throne of Nation in a Week.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Afghanistan today had its third king within the short space of a week, according to reports from Moscow purporting to be of Kabul origin. The new king is Habibullah Khan, a rebel leader whose nickname, Bacha Sakao, means "water boy." His accession followed abdication by Inayatullah, older brother of Amanullah Khan, from whom Inayatullah gained his throne only a week ago.

Despite the fact that the reports had been confirmed from no other source, there seemed little inclination to question them. In fact, dispatches from New Delhi, British India, said that Bacha Sakao was in control of the Kabul area.

How New King Was Set Up.

Briefly, what has happened seems to be this: The accession of Inayatullah to the throne on the abdication of Amanullah did not pacify the rebel leaders, who continued their offensive against Kabul, Afghanistan's capital, and succeeded in investing the city about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Inayatullah retained only the "arg" or citadel and had only a small force to guard him. The rebel leader finally took the royal residence, Koo, and Inayatullah abdicated on a guarantee of safety for himself and his household.

No Foreigners Injured.

Order was said to prevail in Kabul tonight with the foreign legations, missions and institutions guaranteed by rebels whose attitude toward the foreigners is quite friendly; no foreigners are known to have been injured during the fighting, which at times was quite heavy, the city's markets are all open and functioning.

Not all the government troops have given up, but it was said only a few isolated detachments continued the defense of entrenched positions. The airforce, main artillery points, and considerable cannon and ammunition have been captured by the rebels, detachments of whom parade the streets as a constabulary.

Deposed Amir May Fight.

The reports did not indicate whether Inayatullah had left Kabul, or where he would go when he did depart.

From New Delhi it is learned that Amanullah has taken up his headquarters at Kandahar, where his wife, Queen Souraya, is said to be awaiting arrival of the sultan. He is said to have down the royal colors at Kandahar and to be exercising a measure of control over the city which some interpret as indicating a possible desire to regain his throne, and intention to use that city as a base.

Was Afghan's "Robin Hood."

The personality and history of Habibullah Khan, Afghanistan's latest king, are little known to the outside

GETS LETTER

Miss Grace Elizabeth Gray, 4469 North Ashland avenue, has received a personal letter from Mrs. Herbert Hoover expressing her regret at being unable to attend Miss Gray's wedding tomorrow evening to Warren Elmore Snyder in the Sovereign hotel. Mrs. Hoover is a Girl Scout, and when last in Chicago decorated Miss Gray with the golden eagle for efficient work.

world but the meager facts that are known indicate that he is no ordinary man.

Habibullah, which means "Darling of God," has been a Robin Hood in the central Asian fastness of Afghanistan.

He hails from the north of Kabul and is a member of the Pejak tribe which speaks Persian. A few years ago he was in the Afghan army. Whether he was discharged or deserted is not known, but in some way he became outlawed.

Swoops Down on Kabul.

That Habibullah profited from his military experience was shown by the way he swooped down on Kabul and routed Amanullah's foreign trained troops.

Another aspect of the situation is that Habibullah does not appear to have started the recent troubles in the country but jumped in after the Shikhar tribes in southern Afghanistan revolted. Amanullah succeeded in placating the southerners, but other malcontents, opposing the king's western reforms, rallied around Habibullah, known as Bacha Sakao or the "water boy."

BANDITS IN TOWN CAR POLITELY ROB SMART GEM SHOP

Admire $400,000 Stone, Leave It; Take $200,000

New York, Jan. 12.—(Special).—Five bandits politely robbed one of Park avenue's smartest jewelry stores today of more than $200,000 in gems and trinkets, but walked out without the $400,000 world famous Nassak diamond, after picking it up, admiring it and carefully placing it back in its case.

The bandits sauntered into the store of G. Mauboussin, 330 Park avenue, with the assurance of old customers, rifled two showcases of their glittering contents, cleaned out a safe and drove away in their town car, waved ahead by the unsuspecting traffic policeman at the corner.

Whalen Speeds Hunt.

Commissioner Grover A. Whalen himself paid the robbery the compliment of attending its post-mortem. With him came the two highest uniformed policemen in the city, Chief Inspector O'Brien and Deputy Chief Inspector Mulrooney, in charge of detectives.

The shop is small and very exclusive, with its private entrance on the ground floor of the apartment house, between 51st and 52d streets, and directly across from St. Bartholomew's church. The six persons, including two women, who were in the establishment at the time, were bound and gagged.

Admire Diamond, Leave It.

Two men attended to collecting the jewelry, placing it in a neat leather bag. When they had taken all that was available, they notified their three companions, who had stood guard over the bound and gagged captives, and the five left quietly.

It was one of the men who scooped up the jewels who tenderly replaced the Nassak back in its plush lined case. He held it in his hands for several long seconds admiring it. But his judgment was, apparently, that so large a diamond—it is 10 karats—could not be sold easily.

Who stole the Glenlitten Jewels?

WITNESS TURNS AGAINST STATE IN ELLER CASE

Refuses to Testify as He Once Did.

The prosecution of Morris Eller, city controller and admitted boss of the 20th ward, his son, Judge Emanuel Eller of the Superior court, and some of their henchmen received a setback yesterday when Edward Johnson, one of the missing witnesses who was caught Wednesday night, refused to testify further for the prosecution.

Johnson, who testified at the trial several months ago when fifteen of the Eller followers were convicted of conspiracy to commit election day crimes, was defiant when questioned by Special Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Raber. He is reported to have refused to talk about the reasons for his latest disappearance or to go before the grand jury and repeat his former testimony.

Cited for Contempt.

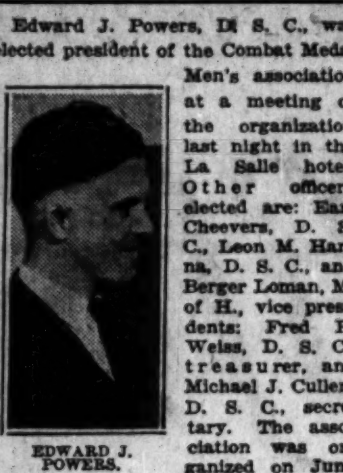

The prosecutor promptly retaliated with a contempt of court citation for Johnson. The petition, based on irregularities committed in the 23d precinct during the April primary, was filed before County Judge Edmund Jarecki and made returnable Tuesday.

The prosecutor will ask that Johnson be held responsible for 90 votes by unregistered voters while he was an election judge. He was committed to county jail pending a hearing.

EDWARD J. POWERS IS ELECTED HEAD OF COMBAT MEDAL MEN

EDWARD J. POWERS, elected president of the Combat Medal Men's association at a meeting of the organization last night in the La Salle hotel.

Other officers elected were: Earl Cheevers, D. S. C., Leon M. Hanna, D. S. C., and Berger Loman, M. of H., vice president; Fred R. Weiss, D. S. C., treasurer, and Michael J. Cullen, D. S. C., secretary. The association was organized on June 14, 1923. Every member is a holder of either the Congressional Medal of Honor or the Distinguished Service Cross, awarded for gallantry under fire. The purpose of the group is to preserve the memories and associations of the world war.

Two weeks ago and was apprehended and taken before the grand jury he told of being paid $1,000 by a prominent Eller henchman. He said he received two payments, one of $750 and another of $250, on the promise that he would go to his old home at Arcola, Miss., and stay there. What induced his latest move he refused to say.

The contemplated indictment of the Ellers and some of their henchmen is being held up pending the finding of two other missing witnesses, William Sephus and Henry Watts, Sheridan A. Bruseaux, chief investigator for the jury, is searching for these men.

DIVORCE PARTS COUPLE SEIZED FOR SPOONING

Henry R. Hamilton Jr. of Oak Park, who was arrested by River Forest police last September for spooning by the roadside with his wife, was divorced by her yesterday. Superior Judge William N. Gemmill awarded a decree on the grounds of cruelty to Mrs. Louise Barlow Hamilton, 714 Linden avenue, Oak Park.

Both the husband and wife are prominent socially in the western suburb. Mrs. Hamilton is a daughter of the late Henry C. Barlow, who was traffic director of the Chicago Association of Commerce and active in the Union League and City clubs. The husband is a son of Henry R. Hamilton Sr., 223 Forest avenue, Oak Park, wealthy paint and varnish manufacturer. He is also a great-grandson of Col. Richard J. Hamilton, who was sent to Chicago by Gov. Reynolds in 1831 to organize Cook county.

Stranded for Weeks.

The divorce hearing brought out that the Hamiltons had been estranged for several weeks when they were arrested for "necking" in his parked automobile. He had taken her for a drive, both hoping for a permanent reconciliation. They had talked of their happy high school romance before the marriage in 1913. They had reached the point of kissing and for giving when the cops interrupted, it was said. Two days later they again separated, this time with finality. Mrs. Hamilton told of a quarrel in 1925 to substantiate her plea. Their home had been quarantined because of the illness of one of their children. Hamilton, due to the quarantine, had been barred from seeing his wife for six weeks. He broke health regulations to get into the house, she testified, and then a quarrel developed and he struck her, she alleged.

Financial Settlement Made.

Hamilton did not contest the case, but was represented in court by Attorney Charles H. Wells. The wife was represented by Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr.

A financial settlement provides that the husband will pay $70 a month for the support of each of their five children. In addition, the wife will receive the income from a trust fund created for her benefit. Hamilton is sales manager for the Nubian Paint and Varnish company, of which his father is president. He is a park commissioner of Oak Park.

Fire in Vacant Cottage Reveals Wildcat Distillery

Fire late last night led to the discovery of a wildcat distillery in the basement of a cottage at 3020 South Albany avenue. The blaze, believed to have been started by an overheated coil in one of the two 750 gallon stills found in the place, caused damage estimated at $8,000. Mystery veiled the ownership of the cottage. Neighbors told the police that the occupants appeared there only at night.

THIEF CAUGHT IN LOOP CAFE GETS AWAY FROM COPS

An 18 year old busboy captured a juvenile thief last night in the John P. Harding grill at 21 South Wabash avenue and held him for the police. But two brawny bluecoats let him slip away in the lobby of the State street police station and blazed away furiously with pistols as he dodged outside to freedom.

Pretending to pay a soda check, the youth snatched $300 from the cashier's cage in the restaurant. Miss Irma Steuber, the cashier, screamed, alarming 400 diners and startling the busboy, Melvin Anderson. Anderson grabbed the thief's coat as he reached the door, jerked him to the floor, and sat on him while the manager, A. B. Carder, notified police. William Kleints and Edward Sindheim of Central station responded and hoisted the prisoner into the patrol wagon, after ascertaining he was unarmed. At headquarters he stated his name as Jack Hendricks, 16 years old, but refused to give his address. As the wagon crew started with him to the door to go to the juvenile detention home, Hendricks wrenched loose, dodged through the door, and ran south. When the two policemen slipped through the door Hendricks was a block away. They chased him to 13th street, firing four shots each, but he escaped.

FAHERTY AGAIN ASKS FOR FUND TO PLAN SUBWAY

But This Time Amount Is Left Blank.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, yesterday wended his way again to the rooms of the council finance committee in search of funds for another subway plan. With his program, there would be more pictures and specifications to add to those now covered with dust in the municipal reference library, which have cost the city approximately $1,500,000 since 1900, without turning over any dirt.

This was not Faherty's only request to the finance committee. Taxpayers' suits, with which he has had considerable experience, tend to make a public official timid in the performance of his duty, the committee was told. Therefore, Faherty said, the city should pay premiums on bonds for the protection of members of the board from lawsuits. "One can't always accomplish things by sticking strictly to the law, he explained, though there is no intention of wrongdoing in evading the legal provisions.

Leaves Amount Vacant.
Mr. Faherty took a lesson from the defeat of his attempt last summer to obtain $447,225 for the preparation of subway plans. This time he left the amount and the account from which the money is to be taken to the discretion of the committee.

After the appropriation of the $647,225 by the council was declared illegal by Charles Fitzmorris, then controller, Faherty appointed a citizens' committee to draw up a subway plan. Nothing has been heard of this design until yesterday.

"The subway committee has its design nearly completed," Faherty told the committee. "Now we need money, asked for last year, to prepare a plan and specifications so public hearings can be held and the contract let. It will take 250 men seven months to complete the details after they commence work."

"If you want a subway this has to be done. I have as much information on subways as any man who is likely to succeed me and I am ambitious to dig it."

Tells What Is Needed.
The occasion for Faherty's appearance before the committee was the beginning of work by the latter on the bond fund budget. It will take $39,153,465 to finish incomplete work on public improvements, Faherty said, and there is $12,900,000 of work waiting to be done.

Among the amounts available in the bond issues and the amounts requested for the work are the following:

Bond Fund.	Amount available.	Request.
La Salle street.....	$7,792	$4,245,500
Western avenue.....	246,000	2,504,500
LaSalle avenue.....	228,200	2,708,404
LaSalle street.....	5,476,513	2,619,000

Action on all Faherty's requests, except for the subway fund, is expected to be taken today. Ald. John S. Clark (19th), chairman of the finance committee, said the committee would send Faherty and his subway plea to the committee on local transportation.

While Faherty was present in connection with his plea for a subway planning fund, Ald. Guernsey challenged his request for 20 valuers and investigators, each drawing fancy salaries.

Counsel Etelson is hiring experts to do this work?" Guernsey asked. "I don't know," Faherty replied. "I'm running my own department and I don't know what the lawyers are doing."

"Well, it's time somebody was finding out," the alderman retorted. "This looks like duplication on a big scale."

Pressed for further explanation, Mr. Faherty stated that Harry Goldstone, his chief valuator, had charge of the expert staff and suggested that he be called in. The committee then ordered that Mr. Goldstone appear at today's meeting.

On Wednesday Ald. Guernsey demanded that City Controller Schmidt conform to a council order directing him to report the services, as well as names and amounts received by the experts of Etelson and Faherty. These experts, it was disclosed, drew $1,000,000 the first eleven months of 1919.

Mr. Schmidt explained yesterday that his failure to set forth the services rendered by the experts in his reports merely has been a technical oversight.

KING ON ROAD TO HEALTH; INTEREST IN LIFE RETURNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(13 A. M.)—It was reported this morning that in the last few days King George has been enjoying long periods of sleep, particularly in the daytime. He is not yet able to beguile his waking hours with reading, as the effort at concentration this would entail is out of the question. But his interest in matters connected with the official routine of the palace has reawakened.

He now is able to hold much longer conversations with visitors. The queen's visits to the bedside are becoming more frequent daily. Each visit paid to the king by any member of the royal family is limited to about ten minutes so his strength shall not be overtaxed.

The strain under which the queen suffered has eased considerably by her husband's progress. She now appears to be much happier and feels that the king really is getting better.

MCUTCHEON IS MADE PRESIDENT OF ZOO SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

John T. McCutcheon was yesterday elected president of the Chicago Zoological society at the annual meeting in the Palmer house. Other officers elected are vice-president, John Borden; second vice-president, John T. Pires; secretary, Graham Aldis, and treasurer, Oscar G. Foreman. The twenty-two trustees will all continue in office.

Stanley Field, chairman of the building committee, stated that the zoological gardens will be completed in time for the 1921 World's Fair. He reported the completion during the last year of the small mammal house, perching bird house, five houses for warm climate deer, five barless bear dens, and a number of service buildings. When completed the new gardens will cost nearly $4,000,000.

GUERNSEY MAY GET OPPOSITION IN COUNCIL RACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ald. Guy Guernsey, who is raised by the Municipal Voters' league as "a most valuable alderman," faces a contest in the Sixth ward. It was reported yesterday that B. W. Snow, Municipal court bailiff, ward committeeman and acting Republican county chairman, is bringing out Fred Burke, secretary of the Woodlawn Business Men's association, as a candidate.

Ward leaders declare it may develop into a hard factional test of strength between the Denoon people and the organization led by Mr. Snow, who is one of the leaders of the anti-Denoon opposition which is trying to reorganize the old Thompson-Crowe machine with Thompson and Crowe out of the picture.

Gov. Emmerson announced yesterday that it is now too late to call a special election to fill the vacancy on the Circuit bench caused by the election of Judge John A. Swanson as state's attorney.

CAR COMPANIES AGREE ON BASIS OF TRANSIT BILL

Act After Citizens' Group
Raps Delays.

Mr. Harris was informed of this several times by several persons in several different ways. He finally agreed to go along with the opinion of the majority.

Then it is reported that some one in the conference observed that "there will be no fudging on this agreement; it will be written out so that every man will know exactly what his agreement is. And I propose that that written statement shall be presented to the council committee tomorrow morning."

That course was assented to, the lawyers were instructed to agree upon and prepare the statement and have it ready at 9 o'clock this morning. Immediately following the adjournment of the session Mr. Harris, representing the first mortgage bond holders of the Chicago Railway company, called in the protective committee chairman for all other bondholders of the company, so that every interest might be informed on the proposed agreement and the trend of events.

Lawyers Prepare Statement. When that session was concluded the lawyers went to work on a statement of "the fundamentals." These involve an indeterminate franchise; consolidation of the elevated and surface lines; service at cost; method of paying a rate of return; donating to the city all surplus earnings; local control and supervision of the proposed consolidated system; the building of elevated and surface extensions, and the construction of a subway by special assessments.

The discussion of these subjects yesterday, which THE TRIBUNE is in a position to summarize, is relatively unimportant in comparison with the respective written statement which

Kellogg Told of Selection of Young and Morgan as Experts

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—The state department was advised today that Owen D. Young and J. P. Morgan had been selected as the American unofficial experts to serve a committee to determine the final reparations payments to be made by Germany. Thomas Nelson Perkins of Boston was chosen as an alternate.

The selection was made by the Washington diplomatic representatives of the allied and German governments. Sir Esmé Howard, the British ambassador, called at the department to advise Secretary Kellogg of the decision.

The ambassador, as spokesman for the powers interested, said he was leaving for New York to advise the American experts of the decision and to inquire if they would accept should a formal invitation be extended by the proper officials of the various governments. This invitation, however, is looked upon as only a formality, as the Washington diplomats were instructed to make the selections.

Mr. Young has said he might not be able to accept appointment on account of the condition of his wife's health, but it is the hope of the selecting committee that he can be persuaded to do so.

Mr. Morgan, New York financier, has given no indication as to whether he would accept, but the publication of his probable selection and that of Mr. Young has been greeted with approval in Europe.

Mr. Perkins, Boston lawyer and financier, was the American commission member of the reparations commission for two years.

The foreign members of the committee already have been announced. The companies have pledged themselves to agree to this morning before 10:30 o'clock when they are scheduled to appear before the aldermen. If it is acceptable to the councilmen the progress will be reported; but if it is not, some of the aldermen will ask the company representatives to continue in session this afternoon, tomorrow, and even on Sunday until there is an agreement or it is decided no agreement can be reached.

Citizens' Stand Outlined. The Wilkerson Citizens' committee program was outlined by it in its statement yesterday. The Simpson group is primarily concerned with getting agreed bills before the general assembly. On this point its statement reads:

"Gov. Emmerson, Speaker Shanahan and other leaders of the legislature have made it clear that unless Chicago can go before the legislature with a united program, no legislation can be hoped for at this session. Our committee is convinced that unless agreement can be reached quickly as to the kind of legislation desired no legislation will be enacted."

Mr. Simpson and associates say that they have obtained the bills which the city deems essential, but that the companies have not agreed upon what they desire. The citizens hope to reconcile the divergent viewpoints between companies and city. Then they propose:

"It is our purpose after this has been done to confer not only with the surface and elevated lines direct, but also to call in Mr. John Maynard Harlan, the subway companies, the City club and such other organizations and individuals as have given study to this subject before concluding on recommendations that we wish to make to the mayor and the transportation committee of the city council."

The citizens have appointed Sidney S. Gorham and Allen T. Gilbert as its attorneys. It has also obtained permission from Judge Wilkerson to appoint George M. Wiener, consulting engineer, and H. W. Hammond, chief accountant of the Illinois commerce commission, to attend the sessions of the council local transportation committee and to act as technical advisers to the citizens.

Tailor's Home Bombed;
Blames Labor Trouble

A dynamite bomb was exploded early this morning just outside the door of Anthony Panichi's apartment in the three story flat building which he owns at 2147 Congress street. The blast blew out the front doorway and shattered windows in the building and in several nearby structures. Five other families residing in the place were aroused. Panichi, a tailor, told the police he had recently employed non-union men to construct a new front porch and believed this was the cause of the bombing. The damage was estimated at $700.

DAIRY STRIKERS POUR OUT 3,100 POUNDS OF MILK

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

The gap between dairy farmers and city milk distributors grew wider yesterday in the price war in the Chicago territory. Thirty-one hundred more pounds of milk taken from non-striking dairymen were poured out by strikers, making a total of 3,100 pounds destroyed during the last two days. Striking and picketing forces of farmers continue to grow in numbers.

Despite the extra forces of deputies sent out by Sheriff L. A. Doolittle of Lake county, where most of the trouble has occurred, the picketing farmers were successful in preventing the delivery of milk at some of the northern Illinois plants yesterday. Additional forces of men on motorcycles will patrol the Lake county roads this morning in response to dairy company officials' and farmers' requests for more protection.

Arrest of Picket.

Mrs. Anna Lukas of Waukegan filed a complaint with Justice of the Peace Harvey C. Coulson of Waukegan against John Stubbin of Lake County, who is said to have been one of the pickets who poured out 200 pounds of milk that was being hauled to Gurnee, Ill., yesterday by her son, August Lukas. A similar amount was taken from Lukas on Wednesday.

Pickets were only partially successful in their attempt to block the deliveries to the Bowman plant at Waukegan, Ill., where approximately 25,000 pounds are delivered normally each day. Two dairymen, each with 1,000 pounds of milk, were stopped by the strikers, who poured the milk into the road.

Collector Loses 900 Pounds.

Harry Thomas, a milk collector for the A. L. Brummond company, Waukegan, was stopped by fifty farmers, who poured out the 900 pounds of milk which he was bringing in from the country.

In Wisconsin many more farmers joined the strikers. At Avalon, Wis., the supply of the Bowman plant, normally 15,000 pounds of milk daily, has been cut to 25,000 pounds.

A report from Clinton said that the milk supply of a Bowman plant there, which normally receives 55,000 pounds each day, had been reduced to about 2,000 pounds.

The Wisconsin legislature yesterday adopted a resolution asking the department of agriculture and the marketing department to take steps to bring about a meeting of dairymen and Chicago dealers. The Wisconsin council of agriculture is to meet at Madison today to discuss the milk situation. W. A. Duffy, commissioner of agriculture, and J. H. Vint, commissioner of markets, will come to Chicago today to confer with representatives of the Bowman and Borden companies and dairymen's organizations.

Members of the Northern Indiana Dairymen's association plan to meet at Crown Point, Ind., today to decide whether they will join with the Pure Milk association in its demand for $2.85 instead of $2.50 a hundred pounds for fluid milk.

Reorganization of the district under the new organization of Democrats publicans was completed with the appointment of committee chairman the seven departments. The Deneen group, according to the Chicago Tribune, follows the majority of the committee heads and the bulk of the smaller groups, it was pointed out, so well through this cause of the extensive pay rolls due to the stringency.

Beebe Wins Attorney. Walter E. Beebe, a can, former attorney and a past president of the Chicago Bar Association, was elected attorney for Mackay Hoyle. His opponent was Lawrence W. Miller, and John were all the other appointments except Erick Rawson, treasurer, J. Kelly, chief clerk, and George F. Waldstein, candidate for election. Beebe was named by Harry Hoff, former recorder, was elected to succeed Martin J. to receive appointments. Kumarek, formerly President Howard W. was made real estate agent Kacena Jr., who police marshal.

Woodhull, Link. The chairmanship committee went to the Deneenists, elected to November election. Lawrence P. King, Frank J. Link, another will head the employment. Other appointments heads were: Henry Henry; Frank J. Link; James M. Democrats Lose Through Pay Roll Cuts.

Reorganization of the sanitary district under the new coalition administration of Democrats and Deneen-Republicans was completed yesterday with the appointment of fourteen new committee chairmen and the heads of the seven departments of the district. The Deneen group gained through the reorganization. It was stated that according to the coalition agreement the Deneen followers were to receive the majority of the committee and department heads and the Democrats the bulk of the smaller jobs. The Democrats, it was pointed out, will not fare so well through this arrangement, because of the extensive pairing of the pay rolls due to the district's financial stringency.

Beebe Wins Attorney's Job.

Walter E. Beebe, a Deneen Republican, former attorney for the district and a past president of the Hamilton club, was elected attorney to succeed Mackay Hoyne. His appointment was opposed by the three Thompson-Republicans: Lawrence F. King, August W. Miller, and John K. Lawler, as were all the other department head appointments except those of Frederick Rawson, treasurer, and Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer.

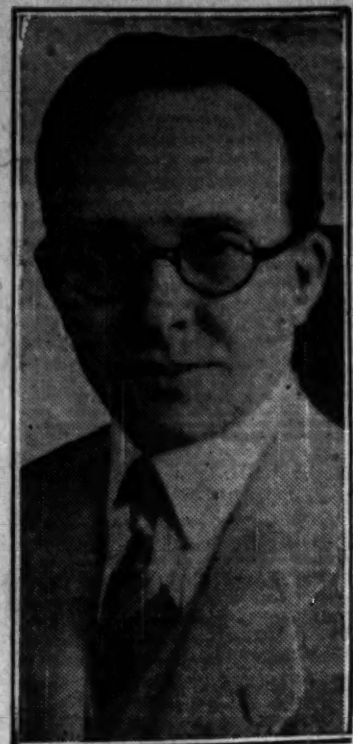

George F. Welding, defeated Deneen candidate for sheriff in the recent election, was named purchasing agent, while Harry Hoff, former chief deputy recorder, was elected chief clerk to succeed Martin J. O'Brien. Others to receive appointments were A. W. Kumarek, formerly associated with President Howard W. Elmore, who was made real estate agent, and Joseph Kacena Jr., who was reappointed police marshal.

Woodhull, Link Appointed.

The chairmanship of the finance committee went to Ross A. Woodhull, Deneenite, elected to the board at the November election. He succeeds Lawrence F. King, Thompson trustee. Frank J. Link, another Deneen man, will head the employment committee.

Other appointments of committee heads were: Henry A. Berger, judiciary; James M. Whalen, electrical development and federal relations; August W. Miller, Calumet channel and North Shore channel; Howard W. Elmore, real estate development; John J. Touhy, Illinois and Michigan canal and Illinois river conditions. Joseph Weber, formerly employed by President Elmore in his real estate business, was named accountant for the district. A third but minor cut in the pay roll of the district's police department was effected at the meeting yesterday and a number of transfers and replacements were made. President Elmore pointed out that the possibility of meeting the January pay rolls, now three days overdue, is contingent upon the report of the auditors who are now at work on a financial report. The trustees voted to retract a previous order to burn the 27,000 bonds prepared, but later declared illegal. Some hope was entertained that the suit now pending in Judge Harry M. Fisher's court, attacking the constitutionality of the law requiring a referendum on all district bonds, may rescind the district from its financial dilemma by permitting the sale of the bonds.

AL SMITH NEW DIRECTOR OF N. Y. BANKING HOUSE

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith today was elected a director of the New York Trust, of which his friend, James J. Riordan, is president.

Whether Gov. Smith will become chairman of the board of directors appeared to be undetermined. Mr. Riordan said he did not know. In any event, it was said, Gov. Smith will form no other business connection until after his return from Florida a month or six weeks hence.

He will leave here Sunday on his vacation trip with Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kenny and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Raskob. The party will visit Sarasota, Miami, and Palm Beach.

We Know the Best Way to Make This Store Better Liked Is To Make It More Home-Like, More Valuable to Everybody

There is more interest, more diligent work done in improving this store today than ever was done.

Even if you are satisfied, and think this an exceptional store, WE must find ways to improve it, to better it.

Fifteen or twenty years ago this was an excellent store and we were proud of it ourselves, but if you could see for comparison the improvements that have been made in that time it will prove astounding to you.

There's no resting on its laurels for a store like this. If that were possible our half-century and more of service in Chicago would entitle us to that, but this store must continue to improve in service, must be more satisfactory, must be bigger and better than ever.

People who have lived in Chicago for 40 or 50 years remember when this store was a little, struggling affair (perhaps five clerks), and the same persevering, conscientious purpose that has dominated and helped build through all these years is just as manifest and purposeful today.

We want you to know this as a store devoted to your best interests and service. We think of you as our partners in business, and any constructive suggestions submitted by you will be greatly appreciated by us.

GRAND DUKE ASKS AMERICA TO LEAD RUSSIA TO PEACE

Sees Hope in "Religion of Love."

The United States is the only country which can help Russia, Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch of Russia believes. The grand duke, a grandson of Emperor Nicholas I, addressed members of the Women's Athletic club and their guests yesterday morning. The club auditorium was crowded.

"It is moral assistance that Russia needs most of all," the grand duke said, urging that the United States and Russia combine to lead the world in a spiritual search for peace. "The present bolshevik rule is a rule of hate," he said. "Besides the 100,000 communists there are 140 million others who are their slaves."

Tells of Revolution.
Grand Duke Alexander told of the Russian revolution which saw in quick succession the rule of provisional government, bolshevik government, and the German government. "During this time of suffering, before the armistice was signed and I was allowed to go to Paris, I lost all my power and riches," he said. "But although I may never regain the wealth which formerly was mine, I have gained a spiritual richness which can never be taken from me."

"He called this new spirit 'the religion of love,'" he said. "I believe it to be the one unifying agent left," he said. "We can't rid ourselves of the horrors of war by signing slips of paper. But through spreading abroad the religion of love, which teaches us to live harmoniously in this world according to the laws made for our benefit, we can unite the world in peace."

Says Both Nations Are Ready.
"Russia and the United States have always been friends, and I believe with nations are ready for this doctrine of love, although each has reached it by a different route, the one through suffering and the other through prosperity. If the United States will lift Russia out of its moral and spiritual mire, together they can lead the world to peace."

Mrs. William Nelson Pelouse, president of the club, introduced the grand duke. Following his address, a luncheon was served for which a majority of the audience remained. The luncheon hostess was Mrs. Jule P. Brower and among her guests were Mrs. Charles H. Morse, Mrs. R. Baumann, Mrs. Harry B. Clow, Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins, Mrs. James H. Winston, Mrs. William C. Pullman, and Mrs. Edward A. Leight.

Desires Son's Election.
Although repeated messages from Europe indicate that the grand duke's son, Prince Nikita, has been elected emperor in a secret council of Russian royals, Grand Duke Alexander still insists it cannot be true. "We have no emperor, and he would not be chosen by a secret group," he said. "Besides, I am twelfth in the line of succession, and as Nikita is my fifth son, he would be seventh."

Mexico to Offer Amnesty to Priests; Open Churches

BY JOHN CORNYN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

(Copyright 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 17.—Semi-official circles today reported that the Mexican government will offer amnesty to all Catholic priests in arms against the administration, as a preliminary move to an attempt to settle the Catholic question and pave the way for the reopening of the churches, which now have been closed for more than two years.

Color was given the report by the surrender today of the revolutionary priest Santa Ana, who has been in arms more than two years. This priest, it is said, led revolutionary bands in the states of Jalisco, Colima, Michoacan, Durango and Guanajuato, although federal troops constantly pursued him. He was credited with organizing scores of revolutionary bands, supplying arms, ammunition, clothing and money to rebels, and keeping up the enthusiasm of rebels fighting in the interests of the Catholic cause.

Two other revolutionary priest leaders, whose names were not made public, also surrendered, according to a wire from Gen. Andres Figueroa, military commander of the state of Jalisco. He said he gave the priests guarantees and a military escort to their former homes.

Five other revolutionary priests have surrendered since President Emilio Portes Gil issued his first amnesty decree and Santa Ana offered to obtain the surrender of other clergymen.

Luis Morones, former minister of industry, commerce and labor, whose fall from power as a political leader followed the assassination of President Elect Alvaro Obregon in July, today looked on Mexico's new era of labor.

Señor Morones, representing the "World Workers" organization, won membership in the labor organization of the federal district which promises to control labor throughout Mexico, last night after four hours' bitter debate.

With Señor Morones practically all the leaders who fought Gen. Obregon and the present administration were taken into the union last night. All held government positions previous to Mexican Federation of Labor.

PAY TRIBUTE TO BEN FRANKLIN AS WORLD CITIZEN

Unite in Praise on 223d Birth Anniversary.

Benjamin Franklin—born 223 years ago yesterday—may have become famous for his discovery of electricity, invention of the stove, and his creation of adages for the wise of America to live by, but the singing of his praise took another trend at a luncheon at the Union League club. He provided a name for namesakes.

Pride in the name of Benjamin Franklin was manifest as a score of the Ben Franklin of Chicago joined 200 members of the Union League club in celebrating the "first civilized American," so described by Benjamin Franklin Shambaugh, head of the department of political science at the University of Iowa, and superintendent of the Iowa State Historical society, in the principal address. The luncheon, one of several affairs of the week honoring Poor Richard, was presided over by Benjamin Franklin Affleck, president of the Union League club, and chairman of the Benjamin Franklin.

Citizen of the World.

"The name of Benjamin Franklin belongs to no one age, party, class, church, business, trade, calling or profession," declared Prof. Shambaugh. "It belongs to no one community, province or country, for Franklin was equally a citizen of Philadelphia, of Pennsylvania, of America and of the world. His is a name that refuses to be tagged, labeled or pigeonholed."

"It is a name that cannot rightly be identified as belonging to any particular interest, for the interests of Franklin were universal. It is the name of a man whose mind runs from the practical to the philosophical, who preferred to live usefully rather than die rich, who endeavored to do good rather than be good."

"It is not so much Franklin's technique in printing, politics, diplomacy, statecraft, education, scientific research, invention and philosophical reasoning or his conclusions in these fields that give legacy to his name. It is rather the spirit of his genius, the attitude of his mind, the humanity of his soul that make the major assets in the Franklin inheritance."

Others at Speaker's Table.

Others at the speaker's table who were introduced by Mr. Affleck were James O'Donnell Bennett of Tuscon, upon whose suggestion the Ben Franklin were organized; C. H. Norwood, president of the Engineers' club; W. J. Bell, president of the Hamilton club; F. H. Warren, president of the Commonwealth club; Justice F. R. De Young of the Illinois Supreme court; the Rev. W. Clyde Howard of the Second Presbyterian church; C. B. Pike, president of the Chicago Historical society; E. W. Lloyd, president of the Electric association, and John A. Garcia, president of the Western Society of Engineers.

Place Wreaths on Statue.

Following the luncheon a ceremony in which four organizations took part was solemnized at the statue of Franklin in Lincoln park, presided by Joseph Medill to the printers of Chicago on June 6, 1896, and placed in the custody of the Old Time Printers' association of Chicago.

Wreaths were placed at the statue by Joseph Ewing, president of the Old Time Printers' association; A. R. Brunner, a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania; Mr. Affleck, for the Benjamin Franklin, and O. E. Clark, president of the North Side Printers' guild.

LABORERS ASPHYXIATED BY GAS.

Albert Euse, 56 years old, 2000 Loomis street, a laborer, was found dead yesterday in the kitchen of his home. A leak in a gas pipe is believed to have caused asphyxiation.

OLD TIME PRINTERS TO HONOR FRANKLIN TOMORROW EVENING

Some folks who celebrated yesterday as the birthday of Benjamin Franklin, but to the men who followed Poor Richard's footsteps in the printing shop and who have attained the twenty-five years of wisdom required for membership in the Old Time Printers' association tomorrow night is The Night.

Forty-four years ago when Chicago printers formed an association to perpetuate the memory and the ideals of Franklin it was arranged to hold a reunion every Jan. 17. But in the incorporation of the Old Time Printers' association an additional purpose was stated: to promote sociability and good fellowship. And after many years' experience the date of the reunion was fixed for the Saturday night following Franklin's birthday.

Therefore, President Joseph Ewing has spread the word to the 500 active members of the association to gather at the dinner in the Stevens hall tomorrow evening. He explained, too, that this will be the first time the general public is invited, the idea being to foster interest in the life and work of Franklin.

Gov. Louis L. Emerson is expected to attend the dinner and is on the program for a talk.

SMALL'S ACTION BARRING JENSEN RAPPED BY JUDGE

The action of former Gov. Small in barring Henry Jensen, recently ousted member of the parole board, from meetings of the board was condemned yesterday by Judge Frank Comerford in the Criminal court. The judge made his comment in a decision pending Charles Youngblood, former business agent for the painters' union, back to the penitentiary to finish out a robbery term.

Youngblood had been paroled and then sent back to prison for violation. He sought his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the parole board had originally condoned the conduct complained of at a previous hearing. Members of the parole board testified during the hearing, and yesterday Jensen appeared to say that he did not attend that meeting. Hinton G. Claiborne, chairman of the board, told the judge that at his request Small had ordered Jensen to stay away.

"Small had no right to notify a legal member of the board not to attend the meetings," said Judge Comerford. "His ordering Jensen to shirk public duties for which he was being paid can be said to be a conspiracy to cheat and defraud."

Police Arrest Two After Auto, Injures Youth, 18

Philip Tuohy, 220 South Austin boulevard, and Ray Petersen, 600 West Madison street, Oak Park, were arrested yesterday after Paul J. Natt, 720 West 61st place, had identified Tuohy as the driver of an automobile which struck George Thompson, 18 years old, 4252 Gladys avenue. The accident occurred on Washington boulevard in Garfield park. Thompson is in a serious condition at the Garfield Park hospital. With no additions yesterday, Cook county's 1922 motor toll remained at $5.

GERMAN AIR LINE TO SO. AMERICA OPENS NEXT MAY

Will Carry Passengers Over Sea Via Azores.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—The German Lufthansa today announced that a regular air service from Germany to South America would start in May with three four-motor Rohrbach hydroplanes and a Junkers G-39, and possibly a twelve-motor Dornier plane. The seaworthiness of the two Rohrbachs has been tried out successfully. They have reached an altitude of 2,484 feet and will carry twelve passengers each.

Travels of Hamburg will be the starting point, unless the Luft-hansa can raise sufficient funds to transform one of the lakes near Berlin into an airport.

Relay Station in Azores.

The Azores will be the relay station, from where the airplanes will hop a distance of 1,400 miles to the island of Fernando Noronha. After refueling, the planes will continue to Pernambuco and other Brazilian and Argentine towns. The Lufthansa plans to make the first flight from Germany to the Azores, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, New York, and back to Europe.

London to India in Six Days.

Chicago Tribune Press Service.] LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Imperial Airways' 5,000 mile air route, providing six day service to India, will open in April. The first day will be by air to Basle, Switzerland, and via rail under the Alps to Genoa. The second and third days will be in all-metal flying boats across the Mediterranean to Cairo. The fourth day will be a flight across the desert to Basra, via Bagdad. The fifth and sixth days will be spent in flights down the Persian gulf to Karachi, India.

35 NATIONS JOIN U. S. IN PAYING TRIBUTE TO BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Benjamin Franklin, printer, diplomat, scientist, and philosopher, was honored today on the 223d anniversary of his birth at a memorial service in Old Christ church. A wreath sent by President Coolidge was placed on the grave by Franklin Bache Huntington, a lineal descendant of Franklin.

A second wreath was placed by the Association of Foreign Consuls, in commemoration of what Franklin did for the welfare of mankind and for liberty. Representatives of 35 foreign countries joined with Mayor Harry A. Mackey and city officials in paying their respects to Franklin's memory.

Old Christ church is where Franklin worshiped together with Washington, Thomas Jefferson and other outstanding figures of the revolutionary period. Over Franklin's new today is hanging a painting of the philosopher and statesman.

Inhale ACTIVE CHLORINE

NEW Treatment HOME Treatment

Just from a flat dish
on stove or radiator

A NEW WAY to use Zonite! New even to the millions of regular Zonite users. Millions more will be interested in Zonite inhalation as a guard against influenza and other diseases of the respiratory tract.

Pleasant and agreeable this Zonite inhalation is, but the real point is its effectiveness. When you heat liquid Zonite as directed the chlorine gas released is genuine free, nascent chlorine. This form of chlorine is particularly active in its germicidal qualities—more active than the ordinary chlorine employed for the treatment of respiratory infections.

How to inhale the chlorine from liquid Zonite

It is very simple. Pour out enough Zonite barely to cover the bottom of a soup plate or any other very flat dish, provided it is not of metal. Set the dish on top of a radiator or stove and start inhaling the vapor as soon as it rises. Keep below boiling point so that the chlorine is given off slowly. Even people who dislike the taste and odor of chlorine will find this inhalation brings no discomfort.

On the contrary, it is wonderfully satisfying and relieving in its effects. Inhaling should be done at least twice a day. Inhale the fumes by placing the nose two or three inches above the liquid in the dish, repeating at frequent intervals for about fifteen minutes. To speed up the release of the chlorine you may add a pinch of bicarbonate of soda or cream of tartar to the Zonite.

Fight influenza at the source

There may be many opinions about influenza, but one thing is certain. It starts in the throat and nasal passages. Authorities say no specific influenza germ has been identified, but that several kinds of germs become especially active during the appearance of this disease—germs which under ordinary conditions of the nose and throat membranes would be resisted.

All these germs are killed by Zonite. They are not simply retarded in growth. They are actually stamped out. This is the real wonder of Zonite—its deadly effect upon germs and its harmlessness to human beings.

Chlorine gas is well known to be the foe of coughs, colds, influenza and other serious respiratory diseases. The first experiments with its use for these purposes were made by the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army. Since then chlorine gas chambers have become a popular method for combatting respiratory afflictions. Workers in plants making or using this gas have been shown to be practically immune during epidemics of influenza.

Take the chlorine treatment at home. Inhale Zonite. It is the simple, sure way to apply active chlorine in a pleasant and convenient form. You can buy Zonite in any drug store in America: 30c, 60c or $1.00 bottles. Zonite Products Corporation, New York, N. Y.

WINT BIG BATTLE FOR MILLIONS OF SALVATION ARMY

Booth May Refuse to Yield Control of Assets.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 17.—While the high council of the Salvation Army prepared to pick a new leader tomorrow, the scheme in the organization has not ended with the ouster of the aged Gen. Bramwell Booth. According to well founded rumors here, Gen. Booth may refuse to relinquish his personal control of more than 75 per cent of the material assets of the organization, which among other things include every flag, trumpet, village hall, hospital, retreat and waste paper collection truck bearing the Salvation Army label. The assets of the army are estimated at many millions of dollars.

A ticklish situation was revealed by the startling reminder of the army lawyers that all army accounts, even wages, are paid by checks over the signature of Gen. Bramwell Booth, instead of the Salvation Army. The very expenses of the army must be paid with a check countersigned by the general, or drawn from an account which he has voluntarily transferred.

Army Not Incorporated.
The explanation is that the Salvation Army here is not an incorporated movement, leaving the general legally solely responsible. Thus, a plaintiff for damages through the fault of the army must sue Gen. Booth, since he holds the whole property and is legal-ly solely responsible.

"Lor is the high council in any real position if the general is declared unable to carry on the affairs," said a legal expert. "His legal executors become the trustees of his property. The executors are very tightly held under such circumstances. Meanwhile checks to the great value of several thousand dollars pass through Gen. Booth's numerous accounts weekly. He has not instructed his bankers to refuse payment of such accounts, and the whole Salvation Army organization of the world will slow down and be thrown out of gear."

Higgins Rules Temporarily.
Meanwhile Commissioner Higgins, chief of staff, is the reigning head today. This notice was posted outside the London Army headquarters, signed by the army solicitors:

"During the interval between the vacation of office of any general of the Salvation Army and the appointment of a successor the chief of staff is authorized and empowered under the statutory deeds of the Salvation Army to exercise (with certain specific limitations) all the powers and discretions pertaining to the generalship."
There were touching scenes both at Southwold and at Sunbury court this morning following the fatal decision. Gen. Booth's secretary tipped to the bedside of the sick commander in chief, who was awake and smiling the news anxiously. The secretary brought a carefully prepared telephone message from Mrs. Booth. It is understood that the general today was given artificial sunlight treatment. "Gen. Booth has taken the blow calmly," a spokesman at Southwold said tonight. "So far, the news of this deposition has had no apparent effect on his health."

Charge Booth with Injustice.
LONDON, Jan. 17.—(U. P.)—The Salvation Army high council based its action in deposing Gen. Bramwell Booth on four main charges, it was revealed today. They were:
1. Prior to his illness, Gen. Booth made decisions and reversed those of other members of his family.
2. He was guilty of injustice and partiality in dealing with officers of the army.
3. He has given some of his children promotion, power and rewards which were unjustified by their capacity or army methods.
4. He accepted on behalf of himself and his family gifts and emoluments which, although legally entitled, he was not entitled by regulations of the Salvation Army.

Good for Children Who Are Pale, Puny

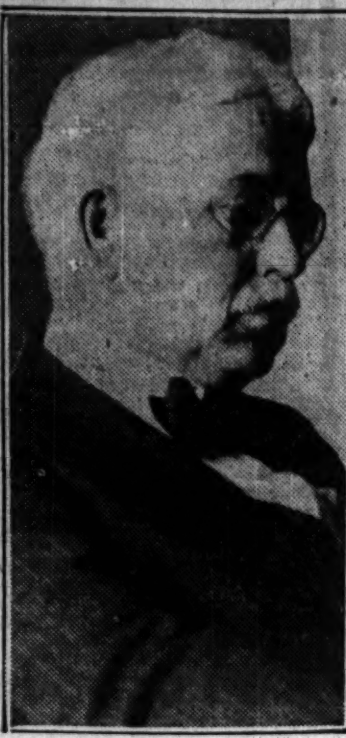

Mother and Dad—have you a pale, skinny, run-down child in your family? No, you can't say the youngster is seriously sick, but somehow he never seems to have the strength and energy to play like the other kids, he seldom eats a hearty meal, just "picks" at his food. He's way behind in his school work—often gets cross and restless.
Poor kiddie! All he needs is McCoy's Tablets—that stimulating health-builder and energizing tonic which gives his frail, sickly body and bones the nourishment he can't possibly get from his food.
If you need more flesh, are run-down, weak, nervous and feeling miserable, you can get 60 McCoy's Tablets for 60 cents at any drug store in America. You can take these tablets for 30 days—after if you are not satisfied with the improvement in health—get your money back.

The Los Angeles county delegation in the California lower house in caucus in Sacramento voted as a unit to file impeachment charges against the jurist.

JURY ACQUITS CAB DRIVERS IN MURDER CASE

After six hours deliberation a jury in Judge Harry B. Miller's Criminal court last night acquitted Bernard Reister and Robert Mooney, Yellow Cab company chauffeurs, who were charged with the murder of Eugene Thievierge, Checker cab driver. The jury is reported to have stood 10 to 2 for acquittal on the first ballot.
The murder of Thievierge occurred on Sept. 22 in a skirmish between rival cab drivers over parking rights in front of the Granada café.
Mooney and Reister denied even having a revolver or being present when the fatal shot was fired. They charged through Attorney Emmet Byrne that Checker drivers assaulted them when they failed to obey the demand that they stay away from the café. They said they were running away when they heard shots fired. It was the defense theory that one of the Checker drivers shot his own associate while aiming at the fleeing defendants.

THREATEN CURB ON TALK TO PASS CRUISER BILL

68 Senators Reported in Favor of Measure.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Threats of closure were heard today as debate on the naval cruiser bill seemed likely to drag on indefinitely in the senate. Unless the bill can be brought to a vote within a few days, it is the understanding that Senator Frederick Hale (Rep., Me.), chairman of the naval affairs committee, will circulate a petition to invoke closure to limit debate.
As many as 68 senators are committed to the cruiser bill, according to a poll by Senator Hale. This would be more than sufficient for a two-thirds vote to invoke closure. Not more than ten senators are counted by Senator Hale as definitely against the cruiser bill.

Wants to Curtail Loans.
Senator Millard E. Tydings (Dem., Md.), the only speaker on the cruiser bill during today's session of the senate, proposed curtailment of loans by American bankers to foreign countries which maintain military establishments in excess of peace time needs.

Senator Tydings offered two resolutions, one expressing the sentiment of the senate that there should be a ban on loans to countries which have navies in any respect superior to that of the United States and the other relating to armaments. Under the second resolution a formula would be set up by which armaments would be regarded as greater than necessary for reasonable peace time requirements if in excess of specified ratios to population.

"Total war expenditures of the world during 1927 were almost four billion dollars," said Senator Tydings. "The United States advanced sufficient to pay two-thirds of that amount to $2,619,691,000. This includes all foreign nations in this country. The United States, meaning the people of the United States, loaned twenty nations more than enough to meet their national defense expenditures during 1927. Europe's war budget for 1927 was a little over two billion dollars."

This is about the total of foreign securities floated in the United States, thereby releasing sufficient in the world financial market to finance the defense expenditures of Europe."

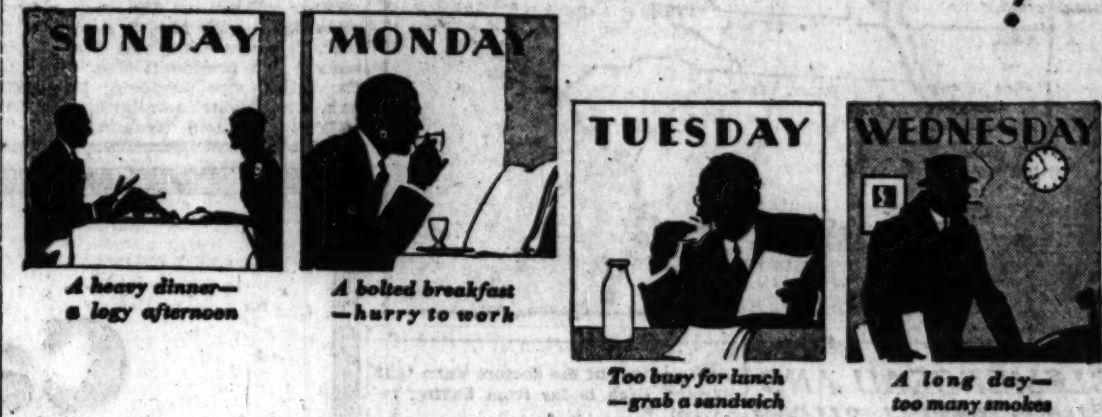

War Debt of 12 Billion.
Eighteen European countries, Senator Tydings said, owe the United States an aggregate war debt of 12 billion dollars. Besides this amount he added, the people of 45 countries owe the people of the United States for loans made to the governments of more than a billion dollars while private loans to corporations of these countries amount to more than three billion dollars.

Several nations have navies superior in cruiser strength to that of the United States, Senator Tydings said.
"In the number of cruisers either built or building, the British empire, Japan and Italy excel the United States," said Senator Tydings. "In numbers of first line cruisers, the British empire has more than three times the number possessed by our country. Japan has nearly twice the number we have. France has approximately the same number as we, and Italy has two more than has the United States of this class of fighting ship."

Turning to the size of standing armies Senator Tydings said that the armies of France, Russia, Italy, Spain, British empire, Roumania, Poland, Japan, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia are larger than that of the United States.
"Every great power on the face of the earth, and a great many smaller powers far excel in size the standing army of the United States," said Senator Tydings. "Many of the nations mentioned, having standing armies greater than our own, have no possessions and a very much smaller territory to protect. We have possessions in the Atlantic and Pacific, and are recognized in a commercial and economic way as the world's leading power, while only one nation has a greater national population than have we."

CHICAGO IS HUB OF VAST HOOVER WATERWAY PLAN

He'll Launch It Soon After March 4.

this country not to impair lake navigation.

Mr. Hoover is committed to the creation of a navigable commercial waterway between Chicago and New Orleans which will require the diversion of Lake Michigan water. Without any diversion the project would be commercially impracticable. Transit would be too slow and too costly. The Mississippi valley leaders, therefore, are confident that the influence of the Hoover administration will be exerted to procure authorization of the amount of diversion necessary to a commercially practicable waterway.

Under the Supreme court decision the diversion must be cut down to the amount required for navigation of the Chicago river only, presumably considerably less than 1,000 compared with the present 5,500 second feet. The war department engineers have reported to congress that 2,000 and perhaps 3,000 second feet of diversion will be required for Chicago sanitation, even after completion of the artificial sewage disposal system. The amount sought for waterway navigation in the bill eventually submitted to congress probably will be not less than 6,000 nor more than 10,000 second feet.

May Crack Opposition.

Whether the lake states opposed to Chicago will continue to fight diversion for a lakes to the gulf waterway, even with provision made for stabilization of lake levels by compensating works, remains to be seen. There is some reason to believe that Wisconsin and Michigan will be detached from the opposition by the advantage accruing to their industries from cheap water transport connection with the Panama canal.

With the Hoover administration behind the project the Mississippi valley states which are leagued together to accomplish it will command an influence in congress which should assure the speedy passage of the enabling legislation. Their influence, if skillfully directed, will be far greater than that of the far western states which put through the Boulder dam bill.

Upon the creation and maintenance of a navigable channel in the Mississippi from the mouth of the Illinois river to the gulf, the federal government has expended 250 million dollars to date. On the lower Illinois river the federal expenditure total $3,000,000 to date and congress has authorized the expenditure of $3,500,000 more.

State Expenditures Large.

The state of Illinois is expending $20,000,000 on the construction of the link between Lockport and Utica. And upon the sanitary district canal more than 100 million dollars has been expended. The federal government also has an investment of $15,000,000 in the Inland Waterways corporation which operates barges on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers, and is now authorized to extend its service to the Missouri and Illinois rivers. The barge service will be extended to Chicago as soon as the Illinois waterway between Lockport and Utica is completed.

Altogether, therefore, the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway, although not yet formally authorized by congress, represents an investment to date of nearly 400 million dollars, equal to the cost of the Panama canal.

No further appropriation for con-

HOOVER'S WATERWAY PLANS

The map shows the extent of the great waterways envisioned by President Hoover's plans for improving the routes from Chicago to the gulf and to the Atlantic through the St. Lawrence.

In the river project the Mississippi is to come into its own as a great transportation system, with Chicago and Minneapolis the northern terminals, Kansas City the western, Pittsburgh the eastern, and New Orleans on the Gulf of Mexico.

No. 1—The state of Illinois is expending $20,000,000 on Illinois-Michigan canal from Lockport to Utica, linking up the great lakes through the drainage canal with the Illinois river. This is the last important link in the lakes-to-the-gulf waterways, which under the Hoover program would give a channel not less than nine feet at its shallowest section from Chicago to New Orleans.

No. 2—The proposed link in the St. Lawrence seaway calls for the construction and deepening of canals around the rapids between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Montreal. In this stretch of 185 miles from Lake Ontario to Montreal it is planned to have 25 miles of canal, 41 miles of deepened lake channel, and 108 miles of deepened river channel by means of dredging and dams. Boats up to 30 foot draught will be able to make the passage from the Atlantic to Chicago and other lake ports.

When completed Chicago would be the hub of these combined great lakes and river systems.

struction between Chicago and the mouth of the Illinois will be required. The cost will be well within the $2,500,000 already authorized for the lower Illinois.

Refund on Diversion.

The government engineers' estimates of cost run all the way from $1,000,000 if a diversion of 10,000 second-feet be allowed to $2,600,000 if only 1,000 second-feet be diverted from Lake Michigan. With a diversion of not less than 6,000 second-feet enough water power, it is estimated, will be available to enable retirement of the Illinois waterway bond issue eventually from the proceeds of the sale of electric current.

Mr. Hoover has frequently intimated the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway. "I visualize a great trunk waterway, 1,500 miles in length, up the Mississippi and Illinois from New Orleans to Chicago and extending thence by the lakes to Duluth," he said in a speech at Kansas City in 1915. He estimated that the entire Mississippi valley waterway system is two-thirds complete and can be finished for about $100,000,000.

Mr. Hoover estimated that a fully modernized Mississippi waterway system would reduce the cost of transportation of grain at least 6 cents a bushel.

CLEMENCEAU AND FOCH BOTH SHOW AN IMPROVEMENT

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 17.—The health of both Marshal Foch and former Premier Georges Clemenceau improved today, following a calm night in each case. Mr. Clemenceau's case is not considered serious, but the doctors warn that Marshal Foch is far from having recovered.

The two vigorous old timers are chafing under the necessity of remaining in bed. Both are worrying their attendants by demands for reading matter and their insistence on talking to friends. The order that Marshal Foch is to see nobody still holds, and physicians declare he will have to submit to absolute rest, which may continue for several weeks.

MRS. BAUR HEADS REPUBLICAN CLUB; NAME CHANGED

Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman from Illinois, was unanimously elected president of the Woman's Roosevelt Republican club yesterday at the annual meeting in the Congress hotel. As soon as Mrs. Baur took the chairman's place at the speaker's table, Mrs. Harry Hart, retiring president, offered a resolution that the name of the club be changed to that of National Republican Women's Club of Chicago. The resolution adopted, 64 to 16.

Reasons for the change were explained by Mrs. Hart, who said members of the board of directors agreed that the scope and influence of the club could be enlarged by making it part of a national organization.

Speakers of the afternoon were Prof. Quincy Wright, who discussed the Kellogg peace treaty, and Col. George Taylor Langhorne.

Other officers of the club elected yesterday include Mrs. S. Arthur Walther, first vice president; Mrs. Hart, second vice president; Mrs. Clyde L. Day, third vice president; Mrs. William R. Cubbins, secretary, and Mrs. Folkert Posthuma, treasurer.

DETECTIVE FREED IN BEAUTY PARLOR OWNER'S DEATH

Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Harvey L. Smith, one time carnival Barker, evangelist, and private detective, was today acquitted by a jury in County court here of murdering Mrs. Genevieve Stults, Mishawaka beauty parlor operator.

After Rayher had confessed a 4 year affair with Mrs. Stults, effects identified as belonging to the beauty parlor operator were found in a shallow limestone grave near here.

Smith agreed that he had been paid $50 to "get that woman out of town," but he said he in turn paid two strangers, who he said he believed were members of the South Bend underworld, to abduct Mrs. Stults. He testified that he last saw Mrs. Stults leave Mishawaka with the strangers the night of March 24.

Rayher testified that Mrs. Stults still was alive.

A deputy sheriff involved Jack Kimball, Mrs. Rayher's brother, as the actual slayer, but Smith, in his testimony, absolved Kimball. "I am going into the ministry of God," Smith said tonight. He added that he had pledged himself to try to solve the murder mystery.

URGE CON ACTION TO WATERWA

Illinois Route
Midwest's

BY ARTHUR

The Illinois waterway link in the lake to the gulf which will demolish toll gates around the state, nearly one-half of the total pay rolls of the state in the lake to the gulf have a stake in the more than 70 per cent of the state is affected.

These were among the reasons advanced by the leaders, taxpayers, farmers and of commerce, factoring interests, but concerted action to finish the waterway at the earliest possible date.

Hold Key to

The heart of the great region stretching from the Rockies and the Alleghenies to the Gulf of Mexico is a narrow strip of waterway, the Mississippi river between Joliet and the state is constructed key to the proposed system of $400 million navigable water route.

The problem raised by the United States Supreme court in getting water diversion from the Mississippi on a navigable basis, various organizations, decades or more have for the lakes-to-gulf waterway side cities put in competition, and it is expected Mississippi valley states out a program to Washington.

General comment upon the early finish of the waterway. It was completed in 1931, but it cost about $3,000,000 of the state to finish the project. In 1905, the voters authorized a bond issue for $1,000,000 to put through additional work, as amendment could not be made until two years hence.

Advocates U.

It has been proposed that a bridge of a bridge, if the idea could be obtained, make up part of the state's proposition. Another proposition, a congressman E. E. Dennis should appropriate to finish the work, on has already spent $1,000,000 of his own money.

President Elect Hoover's foremost champion of the waterway will be middle west interests in his program. The Association, the Association, the Association.

URGE CONCERTED ACTION TO SPEED WATERWAY WORK

Illinois Route Held Key to Midwest's Future.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The Illinois waterway, the missing link in the lake to gulf artery, was heralded yesterday as the vital project which will demolish what President Elect Hoover has termed "the row of toll gates around the middle west."

Nearly one-half of the entire industrial pay rolls of the United States have a stake in the project. More than 70 per cent of American agriculture is affected.

These were among the thoughts expressed as industrial and business leaders, taxpayers, associations of farmers and of commercial and manufacturing interests, began to plan concerted action to finish the Illinois waterway at the earliest possible time.

Hold Key to Future.

The heart of the continent, the great region stretching between the Rockies and the Alleghenias, has its economic, commercial and industrial center largely wrapped up in the sixty-three mile stretch of the Illinois river between Joliet and Utica, where the state is constructing the waterway key to the proposed Mississippi valley system of 2,000 miles of consolidated navigable water routes, it was pointed out.

The problem raised by the recent United States Supreme court decision, putting water diversion from Lake Michigan on a navigation instead of a sanitation basis, was taken up by various organizations which for two decades or more have been working for the lakes-to-gulf water route. Outside cities put in calls for information, and it is expected that the Mississippi valley states will soon map out a program to be advanced in Washington.

General comment yesterday centered upon the early finish of the Illinois waterway. It was to have been completed in 1931, but the state is short about $3,000,000 of the funds needed to finish the project. Away back in 1903, the voters authorized a $20,000,000 bond issue for the undertaking. To put through additional bonds now would lose time, as a constitutional amendment could not be submitted until two years hence.

Advocates U. S. Aid.

It has been proposed that the bridges in Joliet might be paid for out of a bridge fund. If the necessary legislation could be obtained. This would make up part of the lacking amount. Another proposition, advanced by Congressman E. E. Denison, is that congress should appropriate federal funds to finish the work, on which the state has already spent $30,000,000 of its own money.

President Elect Hoover being the foremost champion of waterways, his inauguration will be the sequel for middle west interests to unite behind his program. The Mississippi Valley association, the Association of Commerce, the Illinois Manufacturers' association, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, and kindred groups are planning joint action.

Emmerson Pledges Aid.

Gov. Emmerson, who is committed to the waterways, said at Springfield that his administration would co-operate with the Illinois delegation at Washington in presenting the problem.

President Elect Hoover, in his Chicago speech on March 9, 1928, gave a fresh interpretation of the problem. He held that the economic setting of the middle west had been distorted by the readjustment of railroad rates after the war and by the opening of the Panama canal.

Using the number of cents it takes to carry a ton of staple goods at present rates as a measuring rod, he said: "We find that before the war New York was 1,904 cents away from San Francisco, while it is now only 1,630 cents away. But Chicago, which was 1,410 cents away from the Pacific coast before the war, is today, 2,944 cents away."

Middle West Loses Ground.

"In other words, Chicago has moved 236 cents away while New York has moved 224 cents closer to the Pacific coast."

Mr. Hoover, at that time and during his campaign, declared that this transportation disturbance is a contributing

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary Liquid Arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

MURDER AND FORGERY ENTER BANK MYSTERY

Authorities Hunt Link Between Two Crimes.

Sullivan, Ind., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Murder and forgery were projected today into the double bank mystery that burst on this community yesterday.

Police established that Edgar D. Maple, vice president of the People's National bank here, had apparently been murdered in a plot to steal $4,000 from the institution. At the same time Jessup F. Bollinger, president of the State bank of Shelby, a neighboring town, recovered from a suicide attempt and confessed that he had forged notes on Maple's bank. Authorities tonight were attempting to connect the two crimes. The amount of Bollinger's paper held by the Sullivan bank is said to be between $80,000 and $85,000, most of which, examiners believe, is fraudulent.

Bollinger was arrested today and is held on $10,000 bond. He tried to asphyxiate himself yesterday by locking the doors of his garage and starting his automobile motor. The attempt followed shortly after the body of Maple had been found on the floor of his bank when it was opened yesterday.

Suicide Theory Dropped.

The suspicion that Maple might have committed suicide faded today. His accounts have been found in good order, he was in fine health, and he and his father-in-law, president of the bank, were regarded as the wealthiest men in this county. A revolver with one of six cartridges exploded was found beside Maple's body. He had a bullet through his head.

This evening it became known that Maple received a telephone call Tuesday night, supposedly from a customer, requesting that he be at the bank early Wednesday with $4,000. William C. Jamison, cashier, who found the body, today told police Maple had informed him of the telephone message.

Jamison said when he found Maple's body the bank vault was opened, as if the vice president had entered to obtain the money. Bank officials said today the $4,000 cannot be found.

Stranger Seen Leaving.

A witness whose name has not been revealed has told authorities that he saw a man he did not know, but whom he could identify, leave the bank building by a back door about 7:30 a. m. Wednesday. This door was found standing open after the banker's body was found.

Another report being investigated is that an automobile was parked near the bank about 7:30 a. m., and was driven away shortly before 8.

Bollinger's confession says: "All notes bearing a check mark are forged notes. I may have checked some that should be bona fide, but to the best of my knowledge the list that is checked is correct. Mr. Edgar D. Maple did not have any knowledge of these notes and I wish to absolve him from all blame."

"There are no other parties connected with this transaction and I assume all responsibility."

Judicial Advisory Council Names De Young Chairman

The judicial advisory council, organized to reform civil and criminal court procedure in Cook county, held its initial meeting yesterday. Chief Justice Frederic De Young of the Illinois Supreme court was chosen as chairman; Chief Chancellor Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court as vice chairman, and Amos Miller, former president of the Chicago Bar association, as secretary. The other members of the council are John J. Healy, former state's attorney, and Circuit Judge Harry Fisher. Another meeting will be held this afternoon.

Ask your physician about Bottled Sunshine as a health-builder for your children

Often the growing years seem to drain children of vitality and endurance. They tire easily and overtax their strength.

Medical experience has proved again and again the value of an old time health-builder. Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil!

Physicians find that cod-liver oil taken daily, builds vitality and increases resistance to infections. It helps your child to grow and gain in weight as he should. When he gets it regularly, the under par, under weight child "picks up" quickly and puts on flesh; takes on the ruddy color of health.

This is because cod-liver oil supplies two vitamins essential for growing children—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children are so largely deprived, shut away as they are so many hours a day, from healthful sunshine.

It is also very rich in Vitamin A which promotes growth and nutrition, and increases resistance to certain infections.

Many physicians prefer one kind of cod-liver oil—Squibb's. They know they can depend on Squibb's because it is vitamin-tested and vitamin-protected.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil as a builder of vitality for your child. Squibb has a new mint-flavored oil which older children will like. You can get it, as well as the plain, at all good drug stores.

Who are the people this new car will attract?

A NEW CAR is coming. Not a new make of car. But an essentially brand new edition of one of America's best sellers. It is a six. It has bodies by Fisher. It is bringing new luxury, new beauty and new performance to its price field.

That much is fact. But now let's see. Who are the people this great new car will attract?

Most typical Americans of today are progressive. They are tuned in on everything new that is going on. They are not content to stand still. Years ago, they hustled the horsehair sofa off to the attic to make way for newer, more modern furniture.

Today they are demanding more beauty, more luxury and finer performance than ever in their automobiles. Some of them have reached the point of owning two or more cars. Most of them have not. But they're all getting ahead. They all love fine things. These are the people this new car will attract.

The Oakland Motor Car Company has been building the Pontiac Six for this progressive group during the past three years. So it knows a lot about them. And with this knowledge, Oakland has created a new car especially for them—not merely a refinement of an earlier model, but a brand new car from beginning to end.

It brings new standards of style to its price field. It provides the luxury and beauty of entirely new bodies by Fisher. It offers them performance they can tell their friends about. It will enable them to make a long step up the ladder of motor car quality with only a slight increase in investment.

You will appreciate the incomparable value of this car. Watch for the

GOLDBERGER IS MARTYR TO LIFE WAR ON DISEASE

Conqueror of Pellagra Dies Medical Hero.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 17.—(Special.)—Martyrdom to the cause of human welfare is credited to Dr. Joseph Goldberger, a surgeon of the public health service, who died today from a disease finally diagnosed as hypernephroma.

Known as the conqueror of the dread pellagra, Dr. Goldberger is said to have made the most important contribution to medical science of any man during the last quarter of a century.

In the earlier days of his researches Dr. Goldberger fell a victim to three diseases of which he was making a study—yellow fever, typhus fever, and dengue fever.

Unable to Save Himself.

The disease which caused his death was an anemia somewhat similar to pellagra, and at first it was thought he had fallen a victim to the disease himself as a subject for his experiments. The malady failed, however, to respond to treatment, and for two months it baffled his fellow scientists.

It was only tonight that fellow physicians agreed on hypernephroma—a diseased kidney growth related to cancer—as the cause of death.

Dr. Goldberger died in the naval hospital. His body is being cremated at his request and the ashes will be thrown to the winds over the Potomac. Dr. Goldberger was born in Austria-Hungary in 1874 and came to this country when 7 years old. He received his medical education at the College of the City of New York and Bellevue hospital and entered the public health service in 1919.

Worked in Valleys of Death.

Dr. Goldberger worked on the problem of pellagra for fourteen years, neither the cause nor cure being known at the time he commenced his work. Dr. Goldberger found human subjects necessary for experiments and obtained permission to place convicts in Mississippi on a diet which he believed would produce pellagra. These experiments determined that pellagra was due to a dietary deficiency. Turning to the question of a cure, he discovered the vitamin "PP" contained in dried yeast and with the aid of it pellagra has been practically erased as a dread disease.

Fifteen years ago he contracted typhus fever in Mexico City. A little later he investigated yellow fever in New Orleans and became ill with the disease. Later he became a victim of dengue fever at Brownsville, Tex.

Elmer Tunes In Dream Ship as Final Program

And What's Last Is Not Least, He Finds.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The swan song of my own radio evening was played by W-G-N's Dream Ship orchestra last night, 11 to 11:15 p. m. The Dream Ship tone color was just a bit different, as is revealed by the program itself. "Reverie" (Viennese), slow movement from Wieniawski's Violin Concerto in D minor, and "Romance" by Rimsky-Korsakov.

Other movements comparable to the above were those during the playing of three sections of "Mozartiana," suite by Tchaikowsky, on the W-G-N 845 to 9:30 Musical program. The Theme and Variations section was just about as well done as anything the W-G-N Symphony orchestra has ever played.

It is certain that the short program by the W-G-N male quartet, 8:30 to 8:45, produced favorable comment last evening. One of their effective numbers was "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." And this number was sung as all Negro spirituals must be sung in northern latitudes, that is, in standard concert style.

Negro spirituals are now being sung by the best Negro quartets, representing musical institutions of the south, in this northern concert standard manner. And any one who has been paying attention to the programs by the Pullman Porters' quartet (W-G-N, 10:25) will have noticed that this quartet always sings Negro spirituals in this style. The Negro spiritual has lost its rural character and has become metropolitanized within the last few years.

Much of the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. Glee club concert, WLS, 9:30 to 10, was attractive, and during the same half hour a chamber concert program of real merit came from WMAQ.

BABY BORN BY OPERATION UPON DEAD MOTHER

Steuenville, O., Jan. 17.—(U.P.)—A boy was born motherless in a hospital here today. The baby entered life as its mother left it. She was Mrs. Zennine Diano, 22. She had been shot an hour before by her father-in-law, Frank Diano, who then fatally shot his wife, Marceline, and committed suicide.

The two women were rushed to the hospital. It was seen that the young mother was about to become a mother. She was placed on an operating table and the instant she died, surgeons operated on her body, and the baby was brought into the world. Physicians said he is healthy and will live.

8 MORE ADMIT GUILT AT TRIAL OF LIQUOR CASE

Eight of the remaining thirty-two defendants in the Melrose Park liquor conspiracy case changed their pleas to guilty yesterday and eight more were dismissed by Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell. The original list of eighty-one is thus reduced to sixteen.

Two of the three principal defendants among those dismissed yesterday, Gus Bohlander, president of the village board, and Anthony Palma, a trustee, had the charges against them stricken off by the court when their attorneys, Charles Rathbun and William F. Waugh, asked for a directed verdict of not guilty. Joe Montana, the alleged head of the conspiracy, was denied a similar motion and will probably take the stand in his own defense this morning.

Yesterday's witnesses included Federal Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley, who testified for the government that the village officials made no attempt to seek his cooperation in meeting with the conspiracy. Several of the defendants took the stand to say that they were ignorant of any stills operating on their premises. The case will probably go to the jury on non following closing arguments by Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson and defense lawyers.

ADVANCE CHAPTERS OF STORY ARE SENT TO CONDEMNED SLAYER

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 17.—(U.P.)—A condemned prisoner's interest in a magazine serial story, the conclusion of which would not have been available in the regular course of events until he had been executed, today brought an advance copy of the publication to the Allegheny county jail from New York by special messenger.

The prisoner is Paul Jaworski, convicted of the slaying of a pay roll guard, and sentenced to the next Monday. When the state pardon board declined to intervene in his case earlier in the week, he expressed a desire to finish a story he had been reading. A newspaper telegraphed the publisher for an advance copy.

"It's the end for me, too," said Jaworski as he finished the story.

4 TRAINMEN DIE IN DOUBLE WRECK ON PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 17.—(U.P.)—Four trainmen were killed and another was critically injured this afternoon in a Pennsylvania railroad wreck near Aberdeen, Md., in which two passenger trains and a freight were involved. No passengers were seriously hurt, the company reported.

The killed were A. C. Terhune and T. J. Kavanaugh, engineer and fireman of a passenger train, and B. W. Stewart and K. A. Klein of the freight crew.

The wreck occurred during a dense fog.

Fritz Kreisler, concert violinist, was aboard the Washington bound express train. He was thrown to the floor of the car, but was only slightly injured.

Her tooth paste bought her galoshes

A remarkable dentifrice

—yet but 25¢

It takes a great deal of money to prepare and introduce a new tooth paste. Unless the product is of exceptional merit and priced right, its chance of success is slight.

Four years ago Listerine Tooth Paste was produced by the makers of Listerine. It was the final expression of years of study. Today, sweeping toward leadership, it has reached and passed some of the excellent dentifrices that sell for 50¢ or more.

Millions are delighted by that refreshing sensation of mouth invigoration you associate with Listerine. They're enthusiastic about the quick, safe way Listerine Tooth Paste attacks deposits and leaves teeth white and gleaming.

We can offer no more convincing proof of its merit than this eagerness on the part of the public to buy—and keep on buying.

And think of paying but 25¢ instead of 50¢. That's a saving of $3 per year per person. Worth while isn't it? Particularly when a family is large. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

PUT 3,000 SCHOOL JOBS UNDER RULE OF CIVIL SERVICE

Board Abolishes 60-Day Appointment System.

The board of education yesterday decided to enforce the civil service law governing school employees in compliance with a promise made by President H. Wallace Caldwell shortly after he took office eight months ago. By the board's informal action yesterday, approximately 3,000 temporary employees will be forced to submit to civil service examinations.

The system of sixty day appointments of employees, favored during the administration of former President J. Lewis Coath, was abolished by the decision of the trustees who conferred in the office of Mr. Caldwell, Thomas J. Houston, president of the civil service commission, was requested to hold 92 examinations immediately in order to place all employees under rigid classifications.

300 Dropped in Two Weeks.

Employees in all positions save those of the superintendent, business manager and attorney, their assistants and the teachers will be affected by the board's action. More than 300 temporary employees have been dropped during the last two weeks, according to Mr. Caldwell.

A proposal that the 371 teachers be required to pass civil service examinations was opposed by the Chicago Principals club through its president, Herbert C. Hanson, who favored making these employees responsible to the educational department rather than to the civil service commission. It was agreed after some discussion to require teacher-clerks to be graduates of the Chicago Normal college.

Qualifications Are Listed.

A list of qualifications to be required of all classes has been submitted to the civil service commission, Mr. Caldwell stated.

Yesterday's action was believed to be the forerunner of a shakeup which is expected to be accomplished before the board goes before the legislature with an appeal for relief from its financial difficulties.

MICHIGAN'S "LIFE FOR PINT" LAW TAKES FATHER

Manistique, Mich., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Tony Papich, the father of five children, today was destined to become Michigan's fourth "life" under the habitual criminal code.

After an hour's deliberation, a Circuit court jury here today found him guilty of violating the liquor laws. It was his fifth conviction and under the habitual criminal act a life sentence is mandatory.

Papich, whose last conviction came in 1924, before the law went into effect, declared he had been "railroaded" and blamed his wife for the presence of liquor found in his home Oct. 26, 1928. The affection of his wife for Ernest Laboe, Rochester, N. Y., salesman, a prosecution witness, inspired her to plant the liquor in his home and thus "put him out of the way," Papich testified.

"... so terribly scalded—yet not a scar—with Unguentine"

"I was taking out a cake... the oven door shut on my arm. The burn became infected... the pain was agonizing. I applied Unguentine faithfully. The deep wound is healing beautifully—there will be no scar."

HEART breaking sobs... How cruel, the pain of burns and scalds! How dreadful, the menace of infection, the threat of hideous life-long scars!

No true mother can take this risk. Let Unguentine, the famous antiseptic surgical dressing, protect your child.

In 8 out of 10 hospitals Unguentine is the first thought for all scalds and burns. Miraculously it soothes the pain; promotes rapid, normal healing; safeguards

WOMAN WITNESS FOR EGAN FACES CONTEMPT ACTION

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Reid, Charles Saxton, and Bernard Warren, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Harry E. Miller.

Vincent Klapper, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry E. Miller.

John Rospond, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Robert Genesal.

Joseph Kendrick, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Thomas Taylor.

Frank Egan, once under a life sentence as a rapist, offered to acknowledge his guilt publicly if the authorities in return would agree to give him the minimum sentence, 1 year in the penitentiary, on a charge of beating and attacking a 30 year old girl. The offer was made to Judge Thomas J. Lynch and Assistant State Attorneys Charles Dougherty and Abe Marowitz by Attorney W. W. O'Brien, just as Egan's second trial was to begin.

Yesterday afternoon witnesses started to testify in behalf of Egan that the charges made by his victim, now afflicted with creeping paralysis, are untrue and that a criminal attack never occurred. The prosecutors, however, are powerless under the law in cross-examining these witnesses to show that Egan was willing to plead guilty.

Find Address Is False.

Miss Evelyn Rose Krassa, who gave her name as Rose Krassa, 5411 South Wood street, was the principal defendant of Egan yesterday.

At the original trial the witness gave her address at 5261 South Marshfield avenue, which she admitted yesterday when confronted with the fact that it is a vacant lot, was given in an effort to avoid publicity. The address she gave yesterday as well as the spelling of her name were found by the prosecutors to be erroneous.

Will Face Quiz Today.

Miss Krassa will be recalled to the witness stand this morning and confronted with these facts. Prosecutor Dougherty announced that he would ask Judge Lynch to uphold the dignity of the court by punishing for contempt a witness who gave both a wrong name and address.

Miss Krassa testified that she was in the Egan apartment when the alleged attack occurred. She denied that such a thing happened and attributed the discolored eyes, the broken nose, and the abrasions on the face of the complaining witness to a fall while under the influence of liquor.

William A. Egan and his wife, Marie Egan, 7333 Bennett avenue, parents of the defendant, were other witnesses in his behalf yesterday.

An attachment was issued for Thomas Orr, 3225 University avenue, one of the men in the Egan apartment when the girl was assaulted. He failed to respond to a subpoena and Attorney Henry Hagan appeared to say he was seriously ill. The judge sent a physician to the home and found no one there.

POWER FARMING URGED AS KEY TO NEW PROSPERITY

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Agricultural depression has become somewhat of a permanent institution, challenging the farmers' further effort at satisfactory adjustment. Dr. E. G. Nourse of the Institute of Economics, Washington, D. C., tonight told the 800 Illinois farm men and women attending the thirty-second annual farm and home week at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Cooperative marketing and power farming will be factors in a readjustment of agriculture, Dr. Nourse believes.

Explaining his ideas of power farming as a key factor in the readjustment of agriculture, Dr. Nourse expressed the belief that this country will have family farms rather than corporation farms as the predominant type. The individual business farmer of the better grade will, he believes, take advantage of the possibilities of mechanical power in farming to pull himself back onto a plane of prosperity.

CANZONERI AND SANTIAGO READY FOR PUNCH FEST

Top Coliseum Card Tonight.

Fight Decisions

At Philadelphia, Pa.—Lou Mason beat Johnny Sheppard (9); Billy Jones stopped Jim Miller (5).
At Minneapolis, Minn.—Armand Remond beat Harry Dillon (10).
At Danvers, Ia.—Ole Van Fleet knocked out Tony Rogers (3).

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Two aggressive, hard hitting fighters—Tony Canzoneri of New York, former world's featherweight champion, and Armando Santiago of Cuba—will meet in the windup of the Coliseum show at the Coliseum tonight. They will go ten rounds to a decision at 130 pounds.

Both fighters have made good before Chicago fans. Canzoneri fought Bud Taylor here twice, getting a draw once and losing the decision in the other. Both battles were crowded with hard punching and skillful boxing.

Santiago has appeared in Chicago several times. The Cuban's most impressive showing was his knockout of Joe Sangor of Milwaukee in two rounds at a recent Coliseum show. That win made the Cuban stand out as a strong contender for featherweight honors. If he wins tonight it will be hard to deny him a title match.

Aside from meeting Sangor in a local ring, Santiago has met Al Foreman of Washington, D. C.; Tommy Grogan of Omaha and Danny Delmont of the west side.

Protégé of Pete Herman.

Canzoneri, who lost his world's featherweight title to Andre Routis of France, started his boxing career in New Orleans. He was discovered by Pete Herman, who won the world's bantamweight championship from Johnny Coulon of Chicago. Herman took the little Italian when he was an amateur and taught him some of the finer points of the game. He later moved to New York and proved a sensation in the bantamweight class. He gradually took on weight and finally wrestled the world's featherweight title from Johnny Dundee.

After winning the world's title Canzoneri was put out of competition by a long illness. Following his recovery he was matched with Andre Routis of France. The bout was looked upon as a warmup affair by Canzoneri and his handlers. The Frenchman proved a surprise and won the decision and featherweight title in the end of fifteen rounds in New York. Since that defeat Canzoneri has regained his strength and speed.

Started Without a Manager.

Santiago has been boxing for four years. He is a native of Cuba. When he was given his first match in New York he had no manager. While he was working out at Stillman's gym one afternoon Frank Churchill, manager of Tod Moran, the world's junior lightweight champion, took a liking to him and put him under his managerial wing. Churchill will be remembered as the manager of Pancho Villa, one of the greatest Filipino boxers who ever came to this country.

Churchill was impressed with Santiago's natural fighting ability. He took a fancy to Armando's right hand and put the right across in one-two fashion. He can take punishment and come back. This was shown in his fight with Sangor. On several occasions Joey crossed his right to the Cuban's jaw, but Armando shook them off and waited for the chance to shoot over his own right cross.

Depends on Right.

Canzoneri is a smart boxer. He can sit with his left hand and assume a crouching position most of the time. The awkward defense may cause the Cuban some trouble for Tony will be weaving most of the time.

Mike Dundee of Rock Island and Sammy Dorfman of New York will be the principals in the ten round semi-windup. Mike has shown his wares in local rings before.

Eddie Rose, west side Italian featherweight who stopped Tony Mandell of Boston at the last Coliseum show, will clash with Lou Bloom of Detroit in another ten rounder.

Billy Schuman and Lou Wilson, local 115 pounders, will open the show in a four round engagement. The other preliminary will bring together Johnny Erickson of New York and Pete Barron of Birmingham, Ala.

Edwards, Chicago Boy, New Grid Captain at Brown
Providence, R. I., Jan. 17.—(AP)—C. R. Edwards of Chicago today was elected captain of the Brown university football team. He is a half back.

TWO TEAMS TIE FOR LEAD IN N. Y. BIKE RACE

New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Thirteen teams pedaled their monotonous way around the Kingsbridge armory track tonight in New York's 46th international six day bicycle race, with the standing unchanged by the night sprint.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

ATHLETIC CLUB ATHLETICS.
DECISION of the Chicago Athletic association to disband its track team, while not entirely unexpected by many members, is a radical step that the Chicago Circle has sent strong track and field squads to A. A. U. title events for a period of three decades.

There are two logical reasons for such action. The primary and vital one is lack of interest on the part of club members. Secondary is the item of expense not warranted by the interest displayed.

Track athletics in Chicago never have enjoyed the public attendance shown in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia. Club members have been interested in their teams, not as individuals, but simply as a matter of club pride. They liked to see wearers of their colors stand well in competition and let it go at that. They seldom, in large numbers, attended such competitions.

As a matter of fact, club athletes seldom were club products or even developments. They were ex-collegiate men. Thus a good team became a matter of recruiting more than anything else, securing college stars as they graduated and giving them athletic membership with its club privileges in return for their wearing the club colors.

Development of juniors, to which the C. A. A. has given attention of recent years, and intracity activities are more in keeping with present sympathies of athletic club members.

Consolation.
The minister, a loyal follower of Hawkeye athletics, was commenting on Michigan's defeat of Iowa in basketball. "It's some comfort," he said, "to remember that Michigan would have had a much larger score were it not for the presence on the floor of that splendid Iowa team." Berwyn Bill of Iowa.

FRANKLIN PARK ENTERS 59 IN TRIBUNE DERBIES

Milwaukee Stars Will Try for Honors.

Skaters representing the public parks in Chicago are going to make a determined bid to capture the championships in the various events of the Tribune's Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park on Jan. 26 and 27.

George Smith, director of Franklin park, yesterday sent in an entry of fifty-nine experts for the six races. Director Smith will depend upon the junior and juvenile boys and junior girls to win enough points to place his team among the leaders in the final standing. Director Smith is one of the leading directors of the west park system, and his tournaments have always attracted many entries.

F. Stewart, director of Dvorak park, sent in the names of sixteen boy and girl skaters, while other instructors are deciding upon the makeup of their squads, which will be nominated before the entries close Sunday at midnight.

Milwaukee Stars Entered.
The Guyler Litho Skating club of Milwaukee has nominated four of its stars. Joe Monroe, Al Rutz, and Frank Knaust will skate in the boys' senior and Joe Wilan in the boys' intermediate. The Cream City flyers are training every day, according to the letter accompanying their entries, and are deciding upon the makeup of their squads, which will be nominated before the entries close Sunday at midnight.

Entries close on Sunday at midnight.
An entry blank appears on the sport pages for those desiring to compete in any of the six races.

Mrs. Jones in Semi-Final of Gulf Tournery

Edgewater Park, Miss., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, former American and British champion, will meet Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago veteran, in the semi-finals of the second annual Pan-American women's amateur golf tournament here tomorrow.

Mrs. Hurd today defeated Mrs. Jack Viles, Hot Springs, Ark., 7 and 6. In the lower half Miss Marion Turpie of New Orleans, southern champion, who today drew a bye, tomorrow will meet Mrs. John Arends, Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Arends defeated Miss Ariel Viles, the spectacular 14 year old Arkansas state runner up, 7 and 6.

SEPPALA VICTOR IN LAKE PLACID SLED-DOG DERBY

Lake Placid, N. Y., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Leonhard Seppala of Fairbanks, Alaska, today won the two day second annual sled dog derby here, although losing today's race to Walter Channing of Boston.

Channing finished today's run over the fourteen mile course 3 minutes 11 seconds ahead of Seppala, who led all contestants yesterday over the course. Seppala's time for the two day events was two hours 32 minutes 33 seconds, and Channing, 2 hours 35 minutes 59 seconds. Hiram Mason of Fairbanks, N. H., driving for Mosely Taylor of Boston, took third place in today's race and third in the Derby.

CANADIAN CUE STAR CUTS LEAD OF GREENLEAF

New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Charles Seaback, Canadian champion, cut heavily into Ralph Greenleaf's lead in their 1500 point pocket billiard match here today. The blocks were evenly divided, but Seaback tallied 317 points to 249 by Greenleaf during the day. The match total now stands: Greenleaf 1,000; Seaback 944.

Greenleaf took this afternoon's block, 137 to 123, in 11 innings, making a high run of 190. Tonight, Seaback gathered 194 while Greenleaf was accumulating 113 in 9 innings.

13,000 WATCH BOSTON, DETROIT IN 1 TO 1 BATTLE Cougar Captain Gets Tying Goal.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins and Detroit Cougars, bitter rivals in the American division of the National Professional Hockey league, battled through an overtime period here tonight to a 1-1 tie, with no change in the standing of either team. Boston remains in second place, while Detroit is two points below in third position.

Connie Weiland, Bruin wingman, scored a long shot that got by "Duke" Doleen, Cougar goalie, late in the second period. Toward the end of the final period Capt. Reg Noble scored when the Bruins were a man short because of a penalty.

The third period opened with Centre making a pretty play as he dragged down the ice and skillfully evaded both Abel and Boucher. But the Ranger defense men forced him behind their goal and his effort ended with a crash into the boards, for which Boucher drew a penalty.

The Hawks, however, were unable to make their own man advantage pay dividends and it remained for the Rangers to break the scoreless deadlock when Ben Cook skated the disk down the boards, skirted by Wentworth and Taylor, and blazed the rubber past Gardiner for a goal in full.

This tally did not deter the Hawks in their efforts to score on their own account and from then until the end of the game they fought desperately to break through. But there was no pasting Abel and Boucher or breaking in the Ranger net and Cook's goal remained in front of the Bruins.

New York, Jan. 17.—(Special).—The New York Rangers maintained their advantage at the top of the American division of the National Hockey league by defeating the Chicago Blackhawks in a Madison Square Garden game tonight in a torrid battle that gave a crowd of 5,000 an evening of thrills.

The score was 1 to 0, a well directed shot by Ben Cook after slightly more than five minutes of play in the third period deciding the game in a manner to meet the gathering home well satisfied.

Viewed possibly from an academic angle, the technique displayed at times in the struggle may not have been up to what stylists might deem the best of hockey, but it was exciting. The front running Rangers to their great surprise, encountered stubborn resistance from the Blackhawks.

One Slip Costs Game.
For two periods the Chicagoans fought determinedly both offensively and defensively. But the Ranger defense held fast to the end, while the Hawks slipped just once, as Ben Cook hurled the rubber past Chuck Gardiner, and that one slip was sufficient to decide the issue.

The teams lost little time in getting down to the business at hand and in less than a minute after the opening whistle the crowd let out its first yell as Abel, the chunky Ranger defense man, skated the length of the rink, only to miss the Chicago net when he got right on top of it. The next moment the Blackhawks forwards swept down the ice three abreast and Goalsie Roach had to move briskly to block Couture's well directed shot.

Swing Into Action.
This was the signal for the Rangers to swing heavily into action, and for the next few minutes the game was in an uproar as the Cook brothers and Boucher carried the disk down on a brilliant combination play. But just as Boucher cut loose with a terrific shot two Hawks lurched themselves in front of their goal and helped Gardiner make the save.

Following the customary shifting of forwards, Ripley, flashy Chicago center, enlivened the battling still further with repeated dashes down the ice, but could not get by Abel and Boucher, the latter also indulging in several solo flights which failed.

There was no letup in the pace as the second period got under way and almost immediately there came a wild flurry of sticks as Bill and Ben Cook and Boucher carried the disk down, with Abel joining in the assault. Gardiner made two brace dives and then ended the scrimmage by sitting on the disk.

The Winning Goal.
The third period opened with Centre making a pretty play as he dragged down the ice and skillfully evaded both Abel and Boucher. But the Ranger defense men forced him behind their goal and his effort ended with a crash into the boards, for which Boucher drew a penalty.

"If the nations of the world want peace," was the typical Antonian reply, "they must not encourage bombast."

Asked whether she believed Anglo-American friendship was advisable in the interests of world peace, she answered even more briefly:

"Of course."

The following was the challenging reply to the correspondent's last question, which, in effect, asked how the disarmament problem would be solved:

"I don't know," she said. "I don't know what I do know is that if men don't do something about it, women will!"

Then, as though to make the point plain:

"Electricity," she added, "has existed ever since the world began, yet no one discovered comparatively recently. Women, too, has existed from the beginning, yet man is only just beginning to realize that the world needs her!"

wise thing for a young woman to do.

Fight on Standard Oil

BY TOM PE

(Chicago Tribune Photo)

(Picture on back)

New York, Jan. 17.—Wall street began publishing the belief that the Standard Oil group has been surging around the Indiana stock on the mere ripple.

The fact that the Standard Oil group has been surging around the Indiana stock on the mere ripple.

Other agencies which have been off their decisions to take in the struggle line behind the elder Rockefeller group and the shares of Standard Oil stock, came out definitely, and dispatched a heavy stockholder's support to oust Col. Stewart.

Col. Stewart's decision to arrive today from Chicago is not making his fight an exchange—may explain a slump which the stock is to a new high of opening of the market shares passed hands at then sold off to a low fractionally in moderation. The closing sale set loss of half a point.

"How naive," said when told that Col. Stewart had brought with him the elder Rockefeller was not behind the bitter fight to oust the chairman of the board of the company.

"Any one who thinks and son are working at in this controversy does Rockefeller," said an organization close to the oil family.

Such an idea is Col. Stewart will find it 7, when the stockholder Stewart becomes

The rough rider colonel the city today with two his Chicago attorney, J. G. Walska, arrived for his journey. But, admitted like to think about a bolder Rockefeller.

Col. Stewart was a big jovial fellow today his growl somewhere he met the reporters with a hand and a smile. He it was a nice day, while and announced that "boys wanted to ask him As soon as he was in the colonel even a dozen or so flashlights through with. One of phers suggested that wave a sheet of protest.

"O, no, nothing like the colonel.

"Now then," said the in the battle of millions caught the attention of world. "I'm not here wagon campaign—I'm not proxy fight at all."

Nobody had any way that statement, so no objection. The colonel's throat and continued. "I have come to New York for the company's concern of the public."

Doubts Rockefeller How about the senior feller joining the fight. It was here that the 24 ing man shook his head now than in anger and years of association as lieutenant.

"I read in the paper Rockefeller Sr. was opposed this fight," said Col. Stewart. "I can't believe it and we until I see unquestionable have given Mr. Rockefeller company unquestionable I have no intention of supporting me. Why, I have his interests 25 years. should intimate such a directly would I believe When Col. Stewart's phase of the interview crested efforts were made back to the proxy fight. "I am not going to in hearing," he said. "I (Continued on page 14)
